

It is one of the tragic failures of extreme individualism that there was no one to consider in LaFollette's place but his widow and his son, neither of whom—or any one else—had been even second in command during his lifetime.

It is the way of individualists, great and small—Woodrow Wilson; prima donnas and artists; or Mexican instructors. It is not the way of great executives; of the founders of institutions, in business, government, politics, religion, or education, which sow the seeds of permanence. These, because their work requires co-operation, automatically provide for the succession. Even when the succession goes to the son, as in the case of Ford, Morgan and Rockefeller, it has first been earned by title of recognized responsibility and actually exercised leadership. Otherwise, it would have gone to some one else. It is thus that institutions survive. Their founders are great individuals, but they must not be great individualists.

Evolution has not been "proved," say the antis. Obviously not, in the rigid sense that they demand; not in the sense that it has been "proved" that the earth rotates on its axis, or that the sum of the angles in a triangle is equivalent to two right angles.

But if that is what they mean by "proved"—what about the doctrine which they would substitute? Who has ever "proved" that the Book of Genesis is an inerrant record of the facts of geology? It makes no such claim for itself, and the claim was made for it until centuries after it was written.

Those who finally did make it lived in an age when all things were proved rather by dogmatic assertion than by evidence. If it is a question of "proof," let the same standard be applied both ways. The evolutionists, for their part, never made any such claim. They present evolution as a generalization consistent with all the facts so far discovered, and as the only hypothesis yet propounded which is so consistent that they do not pretend that they know all the facts, nor that the knowledge yet exists to answer all the questions which the facts ask. They know only what they know.

JUST this restraint, in not knowing what is not known, is the supreme moral value of scientific training, and of the scientific method.

It would be well for the disciples of other good causes to emulate this virtue. For instance, when the question of approving biological text books was before the California State Board of Education, certain clerical opponents charged that students in California high schools had been notified that they could not graduate unless they believed in evolution.

Challenged to specify, it turned out that they had not the means to verify their evidence, and did not know whether their charge was true or false. This recklessness of unverified statement is exactly what would not be tolerated in any scientific inquiry. Scientific training inculcates at least intellectual integrity.

If it is a moral virtue which would also adorn the practice of law, politics and theology.

NOW that the unlamented Scopes case is momentarily behind us, we may turn our attention to another form of compulsory orthodoxy which is more dangerous, because more plausible.

That is the attempt of the 200-cent patriots to prevent any critical analysis of the problems of American government. Just as the fundamentalists pretend that they are trying to prohibit "teaching that the Bible is a lie," so the super-patriots pretend that they are trying to stop "communist attacks on the Constitution." Of course no teacher in his right mind was ever guilty of either of these absurdities.

But every intelligent modern teacher does hold views which the ignorant are likely to interpret. So there are proposed inquisitions, to forbid instructors in high schools from teaching what they learned in college.

Thus, General Fries, in a speech appropriately delivered to the oldest inhabitants' association, said, "we have a right to demand of the teachers hired by our money that they shall not teach our children that the government for which our patriots fought and died is a foul thing."

Of course!—if there were any such teachers outside the lunatic asylum. But the teachers at whom General Fries was hitting are no more doing that than Scopes was teaching that "the Bible is a lie," that they are doing is to prepare the new generation for its task of making American government better. And that is exactly what the Oldest Inhabitants' association must not be empowered to obstruct.

If the Oldest Inhabitants wish to cherish the unstable delusion that the world was finished and perfect when they got through with it, that is the privilege of senility. It is the right of youth to know better.

Labor Shortage and High Winds Add to Difficulties in Burning Wooded Land

(By United Press)

OKLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—Two lives have been lost and untold thousands of dollars in damage resulted from forest fires still raging today in Washington and Oregon.

The district forester reported the situation was the worst of the year and unusually grave.

Serious fires were burning in the Colville, Wenatchee, Mount Baker and Mount Hood National forests, while much privately owned timber has also suffered.

Philip Comodore, forest fire fighter, died of injuries received when a burning tree fell on him near Wenatchee, Wn.

Christ Starzmann died in Wenatchee when a paralytic stroke while fighting the Lake Creek forest fire.

Fire destroyed several dwellings and other buildings of the Rasmussen Lumber company, near Ambury, Wn.

Locomotive sparks are blamed for a fire which threatened orchards and farm houses in the Lake Shore district, in Clarke county, Wn.

Fires were reported on all sides of Everett, Wn.

LABOR SHORTAGE IN NORTH IDAHO

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 6.—A shortage of labor added to the difficulties of fire fighting in northern Idaho and western Montana, officials of the forest service declared today.

Only 700 men are employed in fighting fires and many more are needed.

High winds also continued a menace. Several fires, however, were brought under control, including the Falcon blaze that crossed from Idaho into Montana, in the Coeur d'Alene district of northern Idaho, the situation continued serious. Several small mining companies in the Big Creek section south of Wallace, Ida., were threatened by fires sweeping through both sides of the canyon.

National Highway Question Up for States' Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The plan of consolidating 180,000 miles of interstate highways into national roads will be submitted for approval of the various states within a week, it was indicated today.

Sub-committees of the joint board of interstate highways are working out details of the plan here in conjunction with the United States bureau of public roads. The board already has designated 40 main routes and the sub-committees are working out details to be submitted to the states. Their work will be concluded in a few days.

No additional funds other than the designated $50,000,000 now in the treasury, will be available for the work and none will be asked by the states.

ADOPTION OF POOR GIRL BY GOTHAM MILLIONAIRE UNDER OFFICIAL INQUIRY

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Commissioner Bird S. Coler, head of the department of public welfare, today launched an official investigation into the Cinderella race by which Mary Spas, of Astoria, became heiress to the millions of Edward W. Browning, 50-year-old realty man.

The commissioner began his inquiry by arranging with District Attorney Richard A. Newton, of Queens county, for a conference, during which, he said, they would consider all available facts of the case.

Adoption of the "rich little poor girl" by Browning was characterized by Commissioner Coler as a "highly demoralizing transaction."

He said whether or not a monetary consideration was involved would largely determine the course of any action he might take.

"I have received numerous complaints concerning the manner in which this thing has been handled," Coler said. "But my department has no supervision in the matter, since the girl was not a public charge and was in the custody of her parents."

Missing Girl Found In Sewer Tunnel

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Three-year-old Bessie Dorn, missing from her home since yesterday afternoon, was found in a sewer tunnel today by her 13-year-old brother, Nathan. Her condition was described as serious.

Nathan discovered his sister when he heard cries coming from a manhole. He called two men to lift the lid and there they found the missing child.

"Bad men choked me and put me in sewer," the child sobbed when removed from her underground prison. Police at once started search for a moron abductor.

S. A. GIRL WEDS U. S. ATTORNEY ABOARD VESSEL

Mary Jo Grubb, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grubb, 119 Edgewood road, Santa Ana, and Leonard G. Husar, U. S. district attorney in Shanghai, were married this morning aboard the liner President Taft, as the ship sailed out of the Shanghai harbor, according to a wireless dispatch received here at noon.

Miss Grubb, with Husar and a number of friends, is related, left their homes in Shanghai this morning to bid bon voyage to a number of American friends, who were leaving the Chinese seaport on the President Taft.

Ship Pulls Out

During the time they were bidding their friends farewell, the gangplank of the boat was hoisted and the vessel put to sea, leaving Husar and Miss Grubb aboard. A quick proposal of marriage, acceptance, and the marriage ceremony was performed by the ship's captain.

Wireless messages sent back to relatives and friends in Shanghai, asking that additional clothing be sent to a port in Japan, the next stop scheduled by the President Taft.

Mrs. Grubb, mother of the Santa Ana girl, when informed of the marriage by The Register today, refused to believe the report until she was informed of the source. She then declared that her daughter had written her, informing her that Husar had before proposed matrimony. Although the mother was surprised at the suddenness of the event, she said she had expected the marriage to eventually take place.

Miss Grubb left Santa Ana 11 months ago to visit her sister, Mrs. Roland Haskell, in Shanghai, and had expected to remain with her for a year or more, according to the girl's mother.

Mrs. Husar was a resident of Santa Ana, and is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school.

Leonard G. Husar formerly was city prosecutor for the city of Los Angeles and was appointed by the late President Harding to the post of U. S. district attorney in Shanghai, in 1922.

Shenandoah To Be Armed With 10 Guns

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah will be filled up this week with a machine-gun battery of 10 guns and a trained crew to operate them, the navy department announced today.

Two gondolas, set up in the forward gondolas, two aft, two mounted on top of the dirigible and one in each of the power cars.

The installation was made for experimental purposes.

Plans are being completed for the Shenandoah's western trip about September 1, the department announced.

Although the detailed itinerary has not been approved, it is stated the ship will visit Detroit, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Des Moines.

PROPOSE BAN ON EASTERN FRUITS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—A proposed quarantine, which would stop the importation into California of practically all eastern deciduous fruits, will be considered at a public hearing to be held by the state department of agriculture September 10, it was announced here today.

The quarantine would affect all states east of and including North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and is being considered as a method of preventing the Oriental fruit moth from entering this state, according to G. H. Hecke, director of the department.

The oriental fruit moth was first introduced into the United States in a flowering cherry tree, presented to Mrs. William Howard Taft by the Queen Dowager of Japan, when the former was the first lady of the land.

EXHUME BODY IN FIGHT OVER WILL

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 6.—District Attorney Foster W. Cline today is continuing his inquiries of the death of James S. Hoy, Colorado pioneer, who died here last May, and whose body was exhumed for examination.

Late yesterday, objections to the probating of Hoy's will were filed in the county court here by Adea A. Hoy, brother, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Emily S. Chamberlain, Los Angeles, a sister.

The petition asks that all beneficiaries in Hoy's will be made to show cause why the will should not be refused admission to probate and that Adea A. Hoy and Emily Chamberlain be declared the sole heirs.

As grounds for the objection, Adea Hoy and his sister alleged that their brother was weak and debilitated at the time he made his will naming a number of Denver people as beneficiaries of his $16,500 estate.

AUTO OF NEW DESIGN WILL BE MARKETED

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—An automobile of revolutionary design, driven by a new and powerful brand of synthetic gasoline, is about to be offered to the public, it was revealed to the United Press today by a chemical engineer of national reputation attending the convention here of the American Chemical society.

Financiers behind the project, which involves a $5,000,000 business merger, are not ready to make an official announcement of their plans, but details of the proposed gigantic deal have been laboratory gossip among technical men for months, according to this authoritative informant.

The proposed merger involves General Motors, Standard Oil, the Dupont chemical organization and other leading motor and petroleum firms, it was learned.

In Five Makes of Cars

General Motors will install the sensational engine in their five makes of automobiles, according to the proposed scheme. The DuPont company will make the new motor fuel in its vast laboratories, out of raw materials accumulated by the Standard Oil buying organization. Distribution of the fuel will be effected by the nationwide chain of oil stations maintained by Standard Oil and its affiliated concerns.

Local officials of the three gigantic corporations involved refused to affirm or deny the contemplated project.

"An authentic information would have to come from headquarters," one engineer said. "I need not point out, however, that the advantages of such a combination are apparent to an intelligent observer."

Fuel Known as "Synthol"

The new fuel, which is to be marketed under the name of "synthol," may be manufactured from petroleum, coal or lignite. Its base, tested by analysts who have reported the product is benzol. Several varieties of alcohol, and a mysterious metallic catalyst, not unlike tetra-ethyl lead, make up the mixture.

Its action in the new motor designed for its use is said to be more nearly like steam power than any internal combustion engine yet devised. The gas in the cylinders, at higher compression than used in an ordinary engine, expands without explosive force, and hisses from the exhaust valves like escaping steam, according to technicians who have watched the workings of the motor.

The advantages alone would place the new motor and its fuel far ahead of any automobile now on the market, it was said. In addition, it is claimed that the new motor is never troubled by carbon deposits, no poisonous fumes are generated, and because of the extreme smoothness of the power impulses, the engine has a flexibility undreamed of by those acquainted with internal combustion motors.

Little Shifting of Gears

Gear shifting is practically unnecessary, because like a steam engine the motor is almost as efficient at low speeds as when running in normal highs. The new automobiles will run approximately 40 miles on a gallon, although exact figures on the efficiency tests of the motor and fuel are said to be guarded with greatest secrecy.

Application of the motor and its fuel to airplane construction will revolutionize aerial transportation, it is claimed.

"Synthol" will be sold at service stations in the near future. The new motor fuel will be marketed in direct competition with gasoline, and is expected to become ultimately the standard fluid for motor-driven vehicles. The Standard Oil company will control its manufacture and distribution, it is said.

Business Merger of Five Billions Hinted in Connection with Invention

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The American debt funding commission will meet with the Belgian commission on Monday to discuss funding of the $480,000,000 Belgian war debt, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced today. At a two-hour conference this morning, the American commission arranged details for opening of the conference with the Belgians and went over the debt situation of each country now owing.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The American debt funding commission has received for its guidance from American financial experts a report indicating that Belgium needs lighter debt funding terms than those accorded Great Britain and other nations.

Insistence of terms such as Britain had—amortization in 62 years with interest at 3 per cent for 10 years and 3 1-2 subsequently—would cause an impasse, the report indicates.

It is likely that a settlement will be reached on the basis of a 99-year funding period, with interest at 3 per cent, after an initial moratorium had been granted.

Belgium had loans during the war, now, with accrued interest, amount to $235,900,000, but the Belgians have contended that ex-President Wilson and the Allies agreed that these obligations should be met through Germany's reparations contributions. The Wilson agreement has never been ratified, but it is believed that the commission will be confronted with a test of leniency such as President Coolidge bespoke for financial embarrassed debtors.

$750,000 TREASURE IS FOUND BY AMERICAN IN MEXICAN CHAPEL RUINS

(By United Press)

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 6.—Among the ruins of an ancient underground chapel near Torres Junction, Sonora, Mexico, an American has recovered three bars of gold and 10 bars of silver, valued at $750,000, according to E. A. Howard, construction engineer for the Southern Pacific railroad.

Howard told the story of the strange find today at his arrival at Nogales Junction. He met the treasure-seeker at Torres Junction with the gold and silver in his possession, he said.

In addition to the valuable bars, the American found many old plaster saints and 10 iron boxes filled with coins bearing 17th century dates.

According to the story told Howard, the lucky American located the ancient chapel with the aid of a chart given him by a Mexican woman residing in the United States. The document has been handed down to the woman through several generations. She died recently, it was said.

It directed the finder to Torres, where he excavated the church and treasure after weeks of toil, discovering everything as described in the chart.

Some of the coins are square, some octagonal and others round, Howard said.

CLAIM BELGIUM GOVERNORS IN NEEDS LIGHTER AGREEMENT ON FUNDING TERMS

(By United Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 6.—Governors of Arizona, California and Nevada have agreed on August 17 as the date for the tri-state conference on Colorado river problems.

Special committee, from each state will gather here on that date and attempt settlement of the rights and claims of each and effect a program for conservation and utilization of the river waters.

RICHARDSON HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT

LONG BEACH, Aug. 6.—"I hope the California legislative committee may be able to effect a settlement of the rights of the three states so that the conservation of the waters of this great river may be effected," declared Gov. Friend W. Richardson, in commenting on the tri-state Colorado river conference at Phoenix, on August 17.

"The southern portion of this state needs the water from the river and a speedy settlement should be made," the executive said.

Would Give Up Second Wife To Take Back First

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 6.—R. F. Overton, who married the second time after believing his first wife dead, filed suit today for annulment of his last marriage when his first love walked into his office here. Overton and his wife quarreled 14 years ago and she left him. He was advised by friends that she had died. Six years after his wife had left, he married the second Mrs. Overton.

Later advices estimated that 100 miners had been injured in the Amman Ford rioting.

Doctors were kept busy during the entire morning administering to the injured, while further police reinforcements were called and dispersed the attackers with batons.

Two More Men Are Former Head of Folsom Killed

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Two more men will soon leave Southern California to spend their remaining days in death row at San Quentin penitentiary.

The men, Willie Adams and Alfonso Rinco, were convicted last yesterday of first degree murder without recommendation by a jury in Superior Judge Arthur Ketch's court.

The were charged with the slaying of T. K. Ullman, Elizabeth Lake rancher, on May 11.

FATE OF SCOTT PLACED IN JURY'S HANDS; MUST DECIDE IF HE IS SANE

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The jurors who are to decide whether Russell Scott is insane and thereby save him from hanging, or that he is sane and must go to the gallows, started their deliberations at 4:25 p. m. today. Judge Joseph B. David, in instructing the jury, warned that Scott must be presumed sane until preponderant evidence of insanity is found.

The jury must consider the capability of the various witnesses called to give their opinion of Scott's mental condition, he said.

The defense considered this point a victory. The jury had no choice of verdicts, the court said.

It must be sane or insane, as the mental condition of the prisoner is the only question involved, said the judge.

UNION GOES AHEAD WITH PLAN TO QUIT

Possibility of Government Stepping in to Avoid Cessation of Work Hinted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover will go to Swampscott as a week-end guest of President Coolidge, it was learned, presumably to discuss the threatening anthracite coal strike. Hoover declined to state today what prompted the arrangement, but said he intended to present to the president an invitation to attend the San Francisco jubilee in mid-September.

(By United Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 6.—Union leaders went ahead today with plans for a general strike of anthracite miners on September 1.

A subcommittee was empowered to call the strike and close down all hard coal mines when the existing wage agreement expires. Arrangements will be made with the operators for employment of maintenance men should the owners desire such services in event of suspension.

The miners' leaders admit these plans are a decidedly tentative, while they will not ask for resumption of negotiations, they expect further conversations with the owners, through:

1—Federal intervention.

2—State intervention.

3—A satisfactory reply from Samuel D. Warriner to John L. Lewis, recent letter, which would be tantamount to a request by the operators for a resumption of the conference here.

This letter from Warriner was considered the key to the entire situation, although intervention from federal or state sources is expected to precede cessation of work.

MANY HURT IN RIOTS IN WALES

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Six police and many anthracite miners were wounded in rioting that lasted some hours during the night in the Amman valley strike region.

Cardiff advices said that 700 howling strikers stoned and attacked the Amman Ford colliery, overwhelming the small force of police there. Reinforcements were called and dispersed the attackers with batons.

Later advices estimated that 100 miners had been injured in the Amman Ford rioting.

Doctors were kept busy during the entire morning administering to the injured, while further police reinforcements were called and dispersed the attackers with batons.

Newspapermen were warned to stay away.

MISSING CHEMIST BELIEVED AT SEA

OKLAHOMA, Aug. 6.—Charles Henry Schwartz, missing Oklahoma chemist, who is wanted for murder, is believed to have escaped aboard the steamer Nordic of the General Steamship company, which left here yesterday for Swedish ports.

Officials of the Moore shipyard here told Chief of Police Drew today that the day after the explosion and fire in the Walnut laboratory, a man answering Schwartz's description, carrying two suitcases and highly nervous, asked directions to the Nordic's dock.

After leaving her pier here, the Nordic lay in the bay until yesterday. Wireless communication with the vessel will be made in an effort to bring about the apprehension of Schwartz, if the man aboard is proven to be the man being hunted in the "insurance hoax murder."

AMERICAN FLEET QUILTS AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE, Aug. 6.—The American fleet's visit here is at an end. The craft, so warmly welcomed by the city, have given their farewell amid great enthusiasm and proceeded on their way toward New Zealand.

Similar enthusiasm marked the departure from Sydney of the fleet section which visited there simultaneously.

Cupid was busy during the stay of the sailors here, as evidenced by the fact that 20 were married and many others engaged.

Only nine cases of desertion have been registered.

Cistern Death Theories Shift

MATTOON, Ill., Aug. 6.—New light was thrown on Mattoon's "cistern mystery" today when it was learned that the body of Miss Cora Stallman was not found sitting upright in her watery tomb.

With this declaration, authorities swung back to the theory that the eccentric spinster was a murder victim. Yesterday the suicide theory prevailed.

Instead of being upright, as at first related, the body stood propped slanting upright, the feet against the side of the cistern, the back against the center filter wall, and the whole body drooping so that the face dipped in the water.

WILL PROPOSE TAX LEVY FOR RELIEF MONEY

A special tax levy to raise $25,000, designated as Orange county's quota of a state-wide relief fund, for restoration of Santa Barbara's "charities" will be recommended to the county supervisors next Tuesday as one of two plans submitted by a committee from the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

That was announced today by Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, who presided over a meeting of the committee in his office yesterday. Dr. Slabaugh is chairman of the committee, which includes secretaries of the various chambers of commerce in the county.

Meeting in response to a call from the California Development association, which is sponsoring a drive for $1,000,000 with which to rebuild the charitable agencies destroyed by the Santa Barbara earthquake, the committee first decided that Orange county should give its share toward the restoration fund, and then proceeded to the question of ways and means.

Report To Board
Under instructions from the Associated Chambers of Commerce, the committee will report directly to the county supervisors the two plans it evolved at yesterday's meeting.

One plan is for the supervisors to promote a county-wide drive, by appointing representatives in each community of the county to press the campaign. The alternative plan, which the committee itself favors, would be to include in the county tax rate a provision for the desired appropriation. It is estimated that a levy of one and three-fourths mills would raise the desired sum.

This plan was favored by the committee, according to Dr. Slabaugh, not only because it would greatly simplify the problem of collecting the money, but would distribute the burden more equally than any other plan.

That the county supervisors look favorably upon the tax levy plan it is known. Two of them, Chairman T. B. Talbert and William Schumacher, attended the committee meeting. Schumacher himself suggested the plan. Supervisor S. H. Finley, when questioned later, signified his full approval.

AMERICAN CONSUL RESIGNS POSITION

OSLO, Aug. 6.—American Consul Stiles of Stavanger has quit his post and his work has been taken over by Vice Consul Sigmond Roumers.

Mr. Stiles was representative at Stavanger of the Cunard Lines and it was rumored that he had obtained his post as consul partly because of favors shown the Cunard Lines when issuing passports under the American immigration quota law.

As passengers living in other parts of Norway did not succeed in obtaining visas, the situation became so grave that the Norwegian Lina lodged complaints against Mr. Stiles, who was recalled.

Kindling Wood From Old Jail Offered Public

The public's interest in the work of razing the old county jail quickened today, when Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, announced that several truck loads of split boards were available to the public free of charge.

Most of the material from the old jail building will be salvaged for use elsewhere by the county, it is said, but a large quantity of the lumber has been splintered to such an extent that it can be utilized only for kindling, Dr. Slabaugh said.

The public can have it by hauling it away, he said.

Brea Man Freed On Bail of $5000

Held to answer to superior court on a statutory charge, Harry Wenchell, of Brea, was at liberty today under $5000 bail, following proceedings before Justice K. E. Morrison.

Wenchell's 15-year-old daughter appeared as witness against him at the preliminary hearing late yesterday. Formal complaint of the charge had been filed by L. A. Warren, county probation officer. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin conducted the prosecution of Wenchell, with Attorneys F. H. Jacobs of Brea and O. A. Jacobs, of Santa Ana, appearing for the defense. No testimony was offered yesterday on behalf of Wenchell.

Bench Warrant Is Issued for Laguna Lawyer

A bench warrant for the arrest of Albert E. Tanberg, prominent Laguna Beach attorney, was issued today by Justice Kenneth E. Morrison, following Tanberg's alleged failure to appear in court, to answer to a charge of being drunk. Tanberg was arrested by State Motorcycle Officer Howell, at Laguna, on August 4. He was later released on his own recognizance. Tanberg was scheduled to be in court at 10 a. m. today, to answer to the charge.

A new railroad is being constructed for 150 miles through French Equatorial Africa.

MRS. SWANWICK NEW REPORTER IN S. A. COURT

Appointment of Mrs. Birdie Swanwick as official court reporter for Department 3, of the superior court, was announced today by Judge Emerson J. Marks.

Mrs. Swanwick recently passed the examinations and qualified as a reporter before a committee of the Orange County Bar association.

Her appointment to Department 3 automatically brought her resignation from the district attorney's office, where she has been employed during the last two years. Previously she was office deputy in the sheriff's office and before that she was secretary to Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, commencing her service in the courthouse in 1919.

Mrs. Swanwick has been succeeded in the district attorney's office by Miss Leila Rittner, who for several years has been assistant to Edward McWilliams, in charge of the bond department of the First National bank. Her connection with the bank terminated when the bond department recently was discontinued.

U. S. Sends Much Goods to Cubans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The United States is supplying approximately two-thirds of Cuba's imports, some 200 million dollars worth of American goods being shipped to the island in 1924, according to the department of commerce.

Since the establishment of this large market for American goods, American capital in excess of $1,250,000,000 has been invested in Cuba.

This investment is distributed among the sugar industry, railroads, public utilities, tobacco factories, banking, mining and merchandising and many other lines.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN

By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

SHIRTS FOR THE SPORTS

There are sportsmen and there are near-sportsmen, but the one who comes nearest to being taken for an honest-to-goodness sportsman is the fellow who is turned out as one from head to foot. Gone are the days when it was the mark of the horny-handed "champ" at golf or tennis to be dressed in any old thing or anything old. He wore a slovenly suit which appeared to have been slept in and a disreputable hat which looked as though a charge of buckshot had been deliberately fired through the crown to make it look hardened and seasoned. He carried a mean lip at the tyr who strode upon course or court in well-cut, well-fitting knickers or "longs". He kept up his reputation for being contemptuously callous to mere appearance until one day, as from thunder-clap, he was startled by the consciousness that his game fellow's and that, besides, he had pinned upon himself the tattered tag—"old timer".

Dressing correctly and smartly for say, golf, does not make a "sharp-shooter" out of a "grass-cutter," but it does lend self-assurance, steady stance and bettering form. Knowing that you look the part, you play your part with added zest and keener resolve to play par. Not a little of the recent and remarkable prowess of the American at golf, polo and tennis is due to the fact that he attaches great importance to personal appearance. He recognizes that, with his clothes off his mind, he can concentrate it on his game.

Every soft shirt worn in the country is not a sport shirt, any more than any suit is a golf suit. Your first shirt must be expressly and exclusively designed for its primary purpose—sport. It must be of the proper material and weight, so that it will be cool, absorbent and allow free shoulder-swing and body-play. It should have single barrel, so-called, or wrist-cuffs, instead of the conventional French type or double cuff. It should, preferably, have a breast pocket with buttoned flap.

Exactly how a smart sporting shirt for summer looks is illustrated here. This is of light-weight striped flannel, although chevrot, broadcloth, solid-color or striped madras and similar fabrics are also approved. The whim of the wearer settles the question. Be good enough to observe the attached, self-colored, deep-point-collar and the round wrists fastening with one or two pearl buttons.

The Cheerful Cherub

The summer sun is like a bird—
Around the spacious sky it swings,
And down float light and shining days
Like golden feathers from its wings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Steer clear of the drug stores and seek your vitamins in the garden or in the market, is the advice of Dr. D. Breese Jones, chemist in charge of protein investigations of the department of agriculture, who has just completed an exhaustive survey of vitamins.

In cases of suspected vitamin deficiency in the diet, Jones said corrective measures should be taken through the use of suitable natural foodstuffs, and not through commercial vitamin preparations, "many, if not most of which are worthless."

"Vitamins play a very different role in nutrition from the other constituents," said Jones. "They are essential to growth, health and life, but they contribute neither energy nor tissue building material. Their function has been likened to that of the spark plug in a gas engine. They are often referred to as the necessary food factors."

Human beings and animals, according to Jones, are unable to produce vitamins within their bodies and lack of sufficient vitamins in the diet "is soon followed by serious consequences."

"Young animals will fail to grow normally, and adults will rapidly decline in weight and develop certain characteristic affections known as deficiency diseases."

Investigation has revealed that there are at least five vitamins, designated by Jones as A, B, C, D and E, and it is probable that others will be discovered. Certain characteristic effects will be produced by the absence of any one of the five from the diet.

JAPANESE PAY RARE HONORS TO BANCROFT

(By United Press)

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—Japan today paid America's dead ambassador, Edgar A. Bancroft, honors such as heretofore have been reserved only for the dead of her own race.

After funeral services in the little wooden Protestant cathedral, government officials escorted the body to the station, where the "imperial entrance" was used for the first time for any foreigner.

Two companies of Japanese soldiers were drawn up at attention on the station platform as the plain oaken coffin was placed aboard a special train for Yokohama, where it will be placed aboard the Japanese cruiser Tama for its journey to San Francisco.

Members of the diplomatic corps and American consulate general where the pallbearers and diplomats and American colonists attended the services.

approximately 1000 pounds, and, in co-operation with the Standard Oil company, were also experimenting on the production of a new high-powered petrol. They denied, however, that any gigantic merger of interests is planned.

The Ethyl Gasoline company, which is experimenting with high-powered petrol, is jointly owned by General Motors and the Standard Oil company. The government is aiding in this field of work. The DuPont interests control General Motors and these facts, officials believe, led to the misconception.

Charles F. Kettering, chief engineer of General Motors and a vice president, has been for a number of years experimenting along the idea of producing a car which will weigh 1000 pounds and run 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline, it was explained.

Death of Jenny Lee Mourned By Theater World

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6.—The passing of Jenny Lee was mourned throughout the theatrical world today.

The curtain of death ended the career of the noted character actress yesterday, after 51 years before the footlights.

Hundreds of floral pieces from the theatrical folk arrived at Jenny Lee's home today. Most of the mourners were old-time cronies of the footlights, men and women whose names were popular to theatergoers in the days of Shakespearean dramas and when vaudeville was known as "variety."

Miss Lee began her theatrical career at the age of 14, as a performer in a circus, just after the Civil war.

She starred in "Camille" and other popular successes in early American theatricals. She played with Jefferson, Booth and other famous survivors, played character roles in recent years, with her husband, William Courtwright, who survives her, played character parts in the movies.

Prominent film and theatrical folk will attend the funeral services here tomorrow.

Negroes Oppose P. O. Appointment

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 6.—Reappointment of G. W. Turner, as Fresno postmaster, which has been recommended by Congressman Barr and the Republican County Central committee, will be opposed by a negro association on the grounds that Turner refused to appoint negro mail carriers after negroes had passed civil service examinations. The fight will be carried to President Coolidge, it was announced.

Fair Exhibits Are Discussed At Pigeon Meet

A meeting of the Orange county division of the Southern California Pigeon club was held last night in the residence of S. J. Mustol, on North Main street. A. M. Fawkes, of Pomona, president of the club, was the speaker of the evening. Members from all over Orange county were in attendance. Plans for the pigeon section in the Orange county and Los Angeles county fairs were discussed. Conflicting dates of the two fairs was a subject which received considerable attention. Reports of the picnic held in Orange County park recently, when 175 members attended and a display of more than 200 birds was made, were heard.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT

A verdict of accidental death was returned today by a coroner's jury, sitting in the death of Mrs. Laura Humphrey, Fullerton woman, who was killed yesterday morning, in a crash between an automobile in which she was riding with her husband and daughter, and a Pickwick stage, on the county highway near Northam crossing.

The inquest was held at Norwalk and was conducted by Los Angeles county authorities.

No inquest into the death of George Humphrey, the husband, who died several hours later, at the Fullerton hospital, will be held, according to a statement made today by Charles D. Brown, Orange county coroner. Brown asserted that he will issue a death certificate.

A K. K. Dan Los Angeles stage driver, who was at the wheel of the Pickwick stage at the time of the accident, was absolved from blame in connection with the accident, at the Norwalk inquest.

CALLS 'KIDNAP' PLOT PUBLICITY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The defense scored today in the trial of Claude Holcomb, Charles Stevens and Adrian Woods on charges of conspiring to kidnap Mary Pickford.

Mrs. Ruth Tosley testified that several men had inquired about renting a house adjoining her own, among them, Harry Raymond, of the detective force. None of the defendants had been near the house, she said. The state claims that it was this house which the alleged plotters sought to rent as a hiding place for Miss Pickford after the "abduction."

The defense claims that Chief of Detectives George K. Home and Raymond, his lieutenant, "framed" the "kidnaping conspiracy" as a publicity scheme.

Two bullets lodged in Castro's body, one below the heart and the other in the right arm.

MURDER TRIAL WITNESS FINED FOR SPEEDING

A local angle of the famous Young murder case, in Los Angeles, was revealed here today with the announcement, by Justice John Landell, of San Juan Capistrano, that Charles Patrick Grogan jr., son of Mrs. Grace Young, whose body was found cemented into an old cistern in Beverly Glen, several weeks ago, had been fined in his court on a charge of speeding.

Young Grogan, heir to the "olive king's" millions, was arrested south of Capistrano, on July 25, by Ray Bradfield, state motorcycle officer. He was charged with driving his automobile 30 miles an hour. Given a ticket, the youth was ordered to appear in Justice Landell's court.

Instead of appearing in person, young Grogan wrote to Landell and asked the amount of his fine. Landell answered Grogan's letter, declaring: "You have had enough trouble in courts lately, so I am going to fine you instead of giving you a jail sentence." He then informed the boy that his fine would be $50. The fine was paid within a few days.

Grogan, when arrested, gave the family address as 692 South Kingsley drive, Los Angeles.

The Burleigh—a Bedroom Suite by Berkey & Gay

Another Period Design with a History

When haughty Elizabeth occupied the English throne, her court included many of the proudest nobles in history.

Yet for only one did she relax her haughty etiquette—Lord Burleigh, her venerable Secretary of State for many years.

His name is appropriately given to this distinguished bedroom suite which so perfectly reflects the masculine spirit of Tudor England under Good Queen Bess.

Many woods were chosen to make up these pieces; walnut, with butt walnut, maple, maple burl, rosewood, holly, pearwood and gumwood.

Together with beauty and sound construction, this suite has been designed for practical usage in the home. Solid mahogany drawers with 3-ply bottoms. Plush lined compartments in the bureau and chiffonier for jewelry, etc.

Finished in wax to preserve the mellow brown tones of the many woods so in keeping with the Tudor design.

Younger Set Enjoys Lovely Garden Party

LILLIAN VAN OSDALE

What could be more appropriate at this time of the year than a charming party with the guests in their colorful gowns against a background of a riot of colors in an exquisite garden on an ideal summer's day?

Well, that was the setting yesterday afternoon when the younger society set of Santa Ana were entertained by the Misses Mildred Paul and Persana Deimling at the beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul "El Pablo Rancho" in Tustin.

The guests were received by the hostesses in the home and then adjourned to the garden, where bridge tables had been arranged for an afternoon card game.

Pastel shades in floral designs was the motif expressed on the tally cards, while this same color scheme was carried out in other details of the affair. There was the punch bowl at one corner of the garden, wreathed with pink lilies with the refreshing sparkling drink being served throughout the afternoon.

Over the cards, with the light conversation gaiety prevailed and the party reached the climax of merriment when the hostesses called for bridge scores. Mrs. R. Hays Jr. had high score, while Miss Alla Neely came in with low score. As there was only one prize for low and high, the two ladies cut cards and in so doing Miss

Neely came out victorious, winning a handsome deck of cards in a leather case.

Miss Ida Grisset and Miss Evelyn Beilfield cut cards for the second prize and as a result Miss Beilfield received the six score pads.

The average prize, which was scented candles went to Ruth Langley.

At 5 o'clock a two-course tea was served. The same motif carried out in pastel shades was used in the tea decorations with a large nut basket attractively entwined with pastel shades of flowers.

The guest-list includes the following: Ida Grisset, Ruth Langley, Thelma Patton, Adele Johnston, Frances Fargo, Mignonette Swales, Wainwright Kinsler, Annie Laurie Hayes, Mrs. R. Hays Jr., Marjorie Ellis, Katherine McMullen, Helen Menges, Mildred Whitson, Virginia Slabaugh, Helen Hankey, Marjorie Tubbs, Lucy McDermott, Constance Crookshank, Josephine Crookshank, Alla Neely, Helen Randall and the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Robert Kenneth Crist, Los Angeles; Jean McGill, La Mirada; Frances Shepherd and Cynthia Shepherd, Fullerton; Allie Shanks, Louisville, Ky.; Helen Friebe, Whittier, and Evelyn Beilfield, Placentia.

Orange Miss Is Honored with Many Pre-Nuptial Affairs

Miss Cornelia Murphy, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Murphy, 512 W. Glassell street, Orange, was complimented Tuesday evening at a miscellaneous shower given in her honor by her aunt Miss Cora Winter, 335 West Nineteenth street, Santa Ana.

Miss Loraine Sturbaum, Orange, assisted Miss Winter in entertaining.

The color scheme used for the home and tables decorations was orange and white, which was effectively carried out with flowers of this color in the living rooms, while the refreshments consisted of white and orange ice-cream and cake.

The affair came as a complete surprise to Miss Murphy, who will become the bride of Merrill Hoag, Thursday. Hoag is the son of Mrs. Rosa M. Edwards, Orange.

The honored guest was the recipient of many pretty and useful gifts and the evening was joyous spent in playing games and compiling a scrap book, which was appropriately called the "Bride's Album."

Those enjoying the party were as follows: Mrs. Elino Hurlbert, Izetta Fayrien, Mrs. C. R. Pitch, Vera Morrison, Ruth Winter, Mrs. Fred Hobbs, Marie Carruthers, Lola Belle Harris, Mrs. Rosa M. Edwards, Marjorie Palmer, Opho Coulson, Mrs. C. L. Coulson, Mrs. G. N. Christian, Mrs. W. W. Carruthers, Mrs. Bertha Murphy, Tessie Murphy, Loraine Sturbaum.

Little Miss Entertains With Birthday Party

Little Miss Naomi Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hawkins, 1138 West First street, was a charming little hostess to a group of her play-mates at a party this week, in honor of the tenth anniversary of her birth.

The kiddies arrived early in the afternoon and played all those dear beloved games of childhood, like "Drop the Handkerchief," "Ring Around the Rosie" on the spacious lawn of the Hawkins home.

Then the little guests adjourned to the dining room where the little hostess, assisted by her mother served ice-cream, cake and candied mints in tiny baskets to the delight of the guests.

Lovely zinnias arranged in low bowls were used in decorating the Hawkins home. The little hostess was the recipient of many pretty and useful gifts.

Those present were Marjorie Wonder, June Roberts, Esta Walker, Eliza Walker, Hazel Brown, Eleanor Freeburg, Virginia Wilson, Willie May Norton, Helen Mercer, Lucille Kykendoff, Thelma Kykendoff, Mary Northern, Wilbur Hawkins, Naomi Hawkins.

Los Angeles Man Is Arrested Here On Check Charge

Charged with issuing an alleged fictitious check, B. F. Moe, who said he was a theater manager, of Los Angeles, was arrested here last night by Deputy Sheriff William Bates. Arraigned before Justice K. E. Morrison today, Moe's bail was set at $500, and his examining trial was set for 9 a. m., August 12.

Moe is accused by George K. Martin, of the Kelly Drug company, of passing a worthless check for $10. Martin is the complaining witness in the case.

Jailers said today that Moe also was being held for Los Angeles authorities and that he is wanted in Klamath Falls, Ore.

Reckless Driver Draws $25 Fine

F. R. Aldrich, of Tustin, was fined $25 today by Justice K. E. Morrison, who found him guilty of reckless driving in connection with a collision at the corner of B and Main streets, Tustin, August 1.

Aldrich's car struck a car driven by A. H. Wallenberg, who had been visiting at Tustin with his brother, Ben Wallenberg. Wallenberg, according to testimony at the trial today, was almost past the traffic button at the intersection when Aldrich's car "straddled" the button and struck the rear fender of Wallenberg's car.

Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin conducted the case against Aldrich, who was not represented by counsel.

Vessel Tonnage Is Greater Since War

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Despite shipping losses during the World war, the world's shipping tonnage is now nearly 40 per cent greater than it was in 1914.

Statistics contained in the new edition of Lloyd's Shipping Register places the present world shipping tonnage of vessels of over 100 tons at 58,785,000 in 1925, compared with 42,514,000 at the outbreak of the war. Germany is the only country not to show an increase since 1914.

The United States, with a present tonnage of 11,605,000 tons, compared with 1,837,000, in 1914, has jumped into second place in the tonnage rating of the different countries. Japan comes third, with 3,741,000, France fourth with 3,262,000, and Germany fifth, with 2,993,000 tons. Before the war Germany stood second in the 1914 list, with 5,098,000 tons, but she lost most of her tonnage to other countries under the terms of the peace treaty. England is at the head of the 1925 rating list with 19,274,000 tons.

Sailing vessels still continue to decline in tonnage and numbers. The use of turbine engines and internal combustion engines has increased tenfold in tonnage since 1914.

The first American patent for an envelope-making machine was granted to J. K. Park and C. S. Watson, Jan. 23, 1849.

St. Louis Couple Wait 46 Years For Wedding Journey

Sometimes honeymoon journeys have to be postponed because although "true love may run smooth" business responsibilities oftentimes play havoc with one's plans.

And so it was with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Beatty, of East St. Louis, prominent in business and social circles who waited forty-six years to take their wedding journey.

The couple was married 46 years last October, but the management of a large shoe business has made it impractical through the years for them to be away from home at the same time.

Mr. Beatty retired last autumn and now the couple are in Santa Ana spending their postponed honeymoon.

They are the guests of their cousin, Mrs. H. J. Schoetter, 313 South Garvey street and have enjoyed a delightful visit while in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Beatty plan to leave shortly for Colorado Springs, and later will visit Glacier park and Vancouver before returning to East St. Louis. So you see their wedding journey is going to prove worth waiting for.

Steak Bake at Beach Proves Jolly Affair

The Junior Philathea class of the Baptist church enjoyed a lark this week when they entertained at a jolly steak bake at Newport Beach. The party arrived at the beach just before dark and before long a huge bonfire was kindled and the juicy steak was being cooked.

Following the supper, the young folks played games on the beach and watched the high tide. Those who attended were Mrs. J. P. Williams, Edna Ingham, Delphine Andrews, Pennsylvania guests; Lena Drews, Edna Ingham, Delphine Andrews, Laura Joiner, Cora Belle Hughes, Laura Joiner, Verna Threlkild, Mrs. Fairbanks, Mrs. Harrison, Irene Cravath, Mildred Marchant, Elizabeth Swanner, Mrs. Lillian Richards, Nellie Garnett, Marie Kerher, and Phoebe McDow.

SECRETARY IS OPTIMISTIC FOR FUTURE OF Y. W. C. A.

When women are traveling alone one of the first things they do when they arrive in a new city is to look up the Y.W.C.A., for in the leading cities in the country the banner that flaunts those letters means comfort, a hearty, gracious welcome and the opportunity of meeting new friends for the traveler.

Miss Nancy Elder, secretary of the would-be Santa Ana Y. W. C. A., in an interview yesterday declared, "There is hardly a day goes by that I do not receive letters from women who are traveling to California inquiring about working conditions and living accommodations in this city. I have often wondered where all these letters have gone, when there was no Y.W.C.A. headquarters here."

In that little statement is the keynote of the success, stability and worth of the Y.W.C.A. to women. Men travelers have their eternal club houses to visit, while if a city does not boast of a Y.W.C.A. then the woman traveler must go to the hotel.

It is of little wonder that the hundreds of Santa Ana young women, which includes, home, business and school girls, are anxiously waiting for the official organizing of the Santa Ana Y.W.C.A., for it will mean a place to enjoy the companionship of other girls and to while away what might be a lonesome evening.

The headquarters for what might be termed the Y.W.C.A. in Santa Ana (although the association will not be organized and affiliated with the National until fall) is at present in the Masonic building on Fifth and Sycamore streets. This space which has been so generously donated to the Y.W.C.A. was formerly occupied by the Southern Counties Gas office.

There are several lounges, easy chairs and tables at the disposal of the women of Santa Ana. Miss Elder states that every noon, there are a number of business and working girls who eat their lunches here and spend the rest of their noon-hour in chatting with the other girls and reading the magazines. Then too, the headquarters are very convenient for the lady shopper, who wants to rest a moment before starting on home.

The headquarters are unusually bright and cheery and are opened during the day, although Miss Elder declares that the Y.W.C.A. will be open at all times when there is the demand.

I am very anxious to get things started here for I am very optimistic for a first class organization. I have never met with so much response and interest from the townspeople and every one seems willing to co-operate and to take hold.

"Right at present, we are waiting for the fall and then we hope to organize in good shape. The Girl Reserves meet here very often and in the future will be the meeting place for this organization. I am hoping to organize the younger business girls into various clubs, but of course my plans are rather vague at this time. There are so many preliminary matters to be taken care of before the organization will be anywhere established."

"I would like to have some ping-pong tables here in the headquarters and a Victrola, so that we could have amusement for the girls in the evening."

Miss Elder plans to leave August 15 for a Pacific coast conference for Y.W.C.A. board workers, business members and secretaries, which is to be held in Asilomar from August 15 to 22. At this conference work for the coming year will be discussed.

Miss Elder in the past week has received a number of calls from girls and women inquiring for satisfactory places to room and board, and it is Miss Elder's plan to have a directory arranged to refer to in cases like this.

Young People Surprise Santa Anans At Beach Home

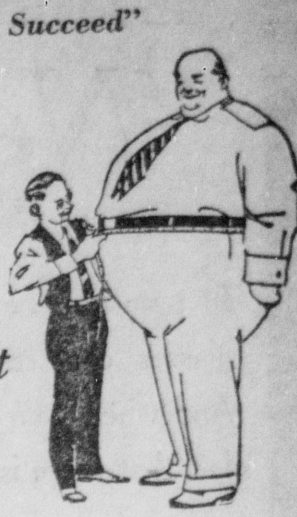

A group of young people surprised Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mercereau and daughters, Margaret and Elena last evening at their summer home at Newport Beach, with a picnic supper.

The party enjoyed the delicious supper on the beach and spent the evening with games and visiting. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mercereau, Margaret Mercereau, Elena Mercereau, Ruth Stephenson, Elizabeth Harrington, Ruth Crawford, Clara Kellogg, Newton Pierce and Morton Stephenson.

One minute's boiling is all your Jam or Jelly needs

NO longer a trying task! Just add Certo to the fruit when you make your jam or jelly, and every glass jells perfectly every time.

For Certo is the element that makes fruit jelly—taken from the fruits themselves that are rich in it. Some fruits lack this jelling property; it grows less in all fruits as they ripen. But with Certo no fruit can fail to jell.

And it needs only one minute's boiling. Certo's short boil saves the fruit juice, saves the flavor and color that you lost in the old long boiling down. You make half again as much jam or jelly from your fruit—and it is lovelier, more delicious than ever. Order Certo today from your grocer. Douglas-Pectin Corp., Granite Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.

RUSSIA MUST WAIT FOR U. S. MONETARY AID

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Large Scale American credits asked by Leon Trotsky to rehabilitate Russian industry and agriculture must wait on diplomatic recognition, which is delayed by the Soviets' alleged influence in the Chinese crisis.

Though President Coolidge has been persuaded by political and business interests that the Soviet government is relatively stable and its recognition desirable, he will not act until the international situation is more propitious, especially in the Far East.

These administrative opinions were brought forth in informed circles here by the exclusive United Press interview with Trotsky, in which he made the first official appeal for "rapprochement with America."

Don't Dispute Claims
Trotsky's claims for the rapid development of Russian industry and agriculture during the last six months are in a large part supported by information in the hands of this government. There was no disposition to dispute this contention that, in the future, Russia will become "one of the most important sectors of the world market."

While diplomatic recognition will regularize and facilitate trade between the two countries, officials pointed out that meanwhile trade relations are not prevented by non-recognition.

This was indicated also by figures released by the Russian information bureau here, showing that American-Russian trade in the half year ended July 1 was equal to the full year 1924, and nearly two and a half times that of the corresponding six months of 1923. The total given was $58,779,738, of which $52,610,645 represented exports from this country to Russia.

Though American banks and firms in the last six months extended credits of about $35,000,000 to the Soviet government, for purchase of these exports, experts here said that Trotsky's proposed large scale loans for "mechanization and electrification" of Russia would probably await diplomatic recognition.

One of the chief economic factors was entirely overlooked by Trotsky in his United Press statement, according to these experts. While Russia is increasingly an important market for American industrial products, she is a potential agricultural competitor.

The hard-pressed American farmer will suffer directly when Russia reclaims its share of the rapidly diminishing foreign agricultural markets, they said. Increase in Russia's cotton acreage, which jumped 38 per cent this year, will diminish the American cotton shipped to Russia—now half of the total export, or about $50,000,000 a year—already improved Soviet crops have about wiped out Russia's flour purchases here.

There was apparent agreement, however, with Trotsky's argument that general trade between the countries will increase and effect political relations.

Though the administration is apprehensive regarding the indirect influence of Russia in the anti-foreign wave sweeping China, the fear of alleged Bolshevik propaganda and revolt in this country has not been a determining factor here since Charles Evans Hughes left the state department.

Q. Will you please tell me how long it will take to pay off a contract on a piece of property that was purchased for $2500? A cash payment of $500 was made at the time of the purchase, the balance to be paid off in monthly installments of $40 per month including interest at seven per cent.

A. It will take 59½ months to complete the payments.

Q. What kind of a window is best to put in a home? Is the casement window satisfactory?

A. The double-hung window is considered by many to be the best window for the home, while on the other hand many favor the casement window. It is really a matter of taste with the home builder. Either give satisfactory results.

Q. How many coats of plaster is necessary for a good job in ordinary bungalow construction? A. Two coats, if properly applied on wood lath, will give satisfactory results. If metal lath is used, it is necessary to apply three coats.

Q. Will you please advise what is the best timber to use for a mud sill?

A. Redwood or western red cedar timber are both considered excellent timber for mud sills. The timbers should be at least two inches by six inches or three inches by four inches in dimension.

Q. What width should cellar or basement walls be constructed?

A. If the construction is of concrete, the wall should be six inches thick for a wall seven feet high and under. If the height

Briton Would Blame U. S. In Moroccan War

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 6.—America is tired of being blamed for everything that goes wrong in Europe, Adm. W. W. Phelps, of the N. S. navy general board, declared with some heat yesterday at the Institute of Politics after Maj. Gen. Elr Frederick Maurice, Britisher, had intimated America bore some responsibility for the present Moroccan conflict.

Maurice stated America's failure to ratify the St. Germain treaty had permitted the sale of arms to the rebellious Riffian tribesmen and this brought Phelps to his feet. Subsequently, Maurice observed that probably no American munitions were supplied Abd-el-Krim, but admitted that the smuggled weapons "came largely from France and Great Britain."

Maj. Gen. John L. Chamberlain, U. S. A., suggested the Riffians were entitled to independence if they could win it, adding: "Anyone familiar with the Spanish administration of Morocco would place his entire sympathies with the Riffians."

Standard Six Duplex-Phacton

A Year Ahead of Its Time The One-Prof-it Duplex—more up-to-date than the newest "yearly models"

THE Duplex Body, introduced by Studebaker in September, 1924, is a revolutionary new-type open car—with advantages open cars have never possessed before.

Within its steel-framed upper structure are concealed roller side enclosures which the driver may lower in 30 seconds without leaving his seat—giving instant protection from rain, snow, cold or wind. With equal ease the enclosures roll up out of sight.

So obvious are the advantages of the Duplex that Studebaker has become the outstanding leader in the open-car field among cars selling above $1000.

Triumph of Studebaker Engineering

Other manufacturers will undoubtedly have to follow in Studebaker's footsteps. For any open car today without this unique advantage is obsolete.

But at the time this advertisement is written, Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—offers you this double convenience.

Another important engineering advantage pioneered by Studebaker is the use of genuine, full-size balloon tires, with steering mechanism, fenders and body lines especially designed for them.

Other manufacturers are gradually following Studebaker's lead—but remember, Studebaker developed this important feature 11 months ago.

On the Studebaker Standard Six Duplex—

Phacton illustrated above, you'll find an automatic spark control, safety lighting control on the steering wheel, 8-day clock, gasoline gauge on the dash, improved one-piece windshield, special coincidental lock of ignition and steering gear, foot controlled cowl ventilator, completely machined crankshaft, oil drain valve which a girl can operate without soiling her hands, and waterproof ignition—all Studebaker features.

These are a few of the points which show that Studebaker cars are more up-to-date than the "new models" now being announced in dizzy succession.

And any automobile expert will tell you that new models of necessity are engineering experiments. Only after months of use in the hands of owners can all mechanical flaws be eliminated. Engineers are human—and it takes time to eliminate mistakes.

Thus, when you buy a Studebaker, you not only get a motor car that is completely up to date, but you also eliminate all guesswork and gamble. Your new car has been tested and proved satisfactory in the hands of thousands of owners.

Come in today—and see the One-Prof-it Duplex which has made all other open cars obsolete. It is called a "one-profit" car because all vital units are built entirely by Studebaker—thus eliminating the extra profits and overhead of outside parts makers which many other manufacturers must pay and include in the purchase price to you. This explains the fine quality and the low price.

QUAINT SOLARIUM GIVES HOUSE DISTINCTION

(Detailed plans and specifications of this house may be obtained at low cost by writing the home plan editor, The Curtis Companies, Clinton, Iowa.)

Here is a house of five rooms on two floors, with sun porch and bath. It is a "square" house, but it varies pleasantly from the usual box-like square houses in that it is architecturally true to an approved type. Yet it is not ostentatious in its development of the English style. It is a home that fits the average community, the needs and tastes of the average family, and the average pocketbook.

Typical of the English architectural expression are the use of stucco, of many casements, and a steep roof, slightly curving at the eaves. The upper windows breaking into the roof lines is unusual, but a feature that "grows" on you.

In this plan there is no formal porch, for the glassed-in sun-porch is a year-round place for enjoying the out-of-doors. This solarium is particularly attractive on account of its quaint shape and unusual treatment.

All the requirements of the ideal kitchen are met in this plan, sunny atmosphere, good ventilation, small size, compact and efficient equipment. A built-in dresser provides for the cooking utensils, and in the rear hall and the refrigerator entry there are plenty of handy shelves that will save many steps.

Two good-sized bedrooms with generous closet, and a convenient bathroom, comprise the second floor. There is cross-ventilation in each bedroom, but at the same time, the wall spaces permit of a change of location for the furniture in each. In one room, a tray-case is built-in, enclosed behind a regular interior door. This is a rather new idea, and an extremely convenient arrangement.
The tray-case itself may be bought ready to install.

Two closets in the hall provide additional storage space.
One of them is a linen closet, similar to the tray case, fitted with five open-front trays that slide out for convenience in handling the linens, and two deep drawers. Space is left above the trays for bulkier bedding.

The plan is unusually well-studied for the small family and costs approximately $5650.

Personal and Social Notes of Fullerton

FULLERTON Aug. 6.—Rev. W.
T. Wright, of the local Methodist church, announced today that three couples had applied to the parsonage to be married since his return from a vacation recently. Those married by the pastor were Arvid B. Meador and Miss Loretta J. Crist, of Los Angeles; C. E. Hessler of Los Angeles, and Miss Evelyn Dora
Haynes of Venice; and W. F.
Summers and Miss Mollie Mae Lee, of Los Angeles.

A wedding of interest to many here took place yesterday morning in the local Catholic church, when Guy Burnett and Lucy A.
Kraemer, of Placentia, were married by the Rev. Father Murphy.
The church was beautifully decorated with white carnations, baby's breath, ferns and potted palms. During the ceremony Mrs.
J. J. Farley sang "I Love You Truly" and "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Edith Dolan.
Mrs. Burnett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kraemer, well known pioneers of the Placentia district. She attended the Fullerton high school and junior college here. Mr. Burnett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brunet, and is employed in an Anaheim bank.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wright returned yesterday from a trip to San Francisco and Berkeley, where they visited friends and relatives during their two weeks' stay in the northern cities. Mrs.
Wright left today with her father, for Kentucky, where they will visit relatives. They plan to return by way of San Antonio, Texas.

Mrs. Alois Sobinski of Nicholas day after an absence of two months, during which she visited

Jail Prisoners Study Bulletin Board 'Sermons'

"The saw horse has contributed more to the good of mankind than the race horse," according to the latest weekly bulletin posted by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, in front of his institution.

Last week Porter attracted a good deal of attention with another of his terse sayings, which read:
"Some so-called open minds should be closed for repairs."
The residents of the county jail, who are occupied at present in tearing down the old jail across the street from the church, are becoming interested in the "sermons."
Two of them ceased their labor this morning long enough to call each other's attention to the cur-

BALBOA CITY RECORDER WAGES WAR ON BATHING ATTIRE WORN BY BEACH SHEIKS AND SHEBAS

If the beach flappers and sheiks of Balboa, strutting about in their abbreviated bathing attire and displaying to as great an extent as possible their likenesses to Adam and Eve, believe they are a "law unto themselves," they merely are making another of their childish mistakes, according to Andrew Wilson, city recorder, who has issued an edict depriving them of their so-called independence.

"I don't believe I am old fashioned," declared Judge Wilson today, "but neither am I so far ahead of Father Time that I can cultivate a liking for the 'near-to-nothing' bathing apparel which so many of our male and female 'beach lizards' take such delight in wearing."

So indecent bathing dress on the Balboa beaches must go. And the exit is going to be a hasty one, if the tactics planned by Judge Wilson, in his proposed war against lewd costumes, prove successful.

Denounces Wild Life
In a scathing denunciation of "modern wild life," the recorder explained that, although a city ordinance, regulating the wearing of bathing apparel, has been in effect at Balboa for some time, it never has been enforced, except on one or two occasions when offenders were fined $2 and released—merely to appear on the beach the next day wearing the same costume.

"It will be different from now on, however," explained the judge.
"The manner in which a number of bathers appear on the beach is outrageous, and it is my intention to clear the sands of such disgusting displays as are now seen."

Outlining his proposed campaign, the city recorder declared that every violator brought before him would be requested to give up his or her offensive apparel and to purchase a new outfit, "one that will properly cover the form of the offender." Scant attire, confiscated in this manner, according to the Balboa dealer in justice, usually is about the right size to afford a proper "fit" for small children, and it will be given to the youngsters in the Masonic camp at Balboa.

Will Not Draw Line
The Balboa official will not draw a line of distinction between male and female offenders. "Girls, too, must face charges of wearing indecent bathing apparel," said the judge, in whose opinion it is more disgraceful for one of the later to wear improper costumes than it is for men.

"No quarter will be granted the violators," he asserted. "Plenty of warnings have been sounded and now we will wage a definite war until it is realized that indecent attire absolutely will not be tolerated."

Argentine polo players abroad has done much to stimulate interest in the game in this country, where it now counts more than 1000 enthusiastic active players.

Sunday matches and periodical tournaments are the order of the day, and all games played draw big crowds of interested spectators.
The game, as played in Argentina, is full of excitement as the Argentine polo player prefers a fast game with a constant change of ponies.

An Argentine pony, accustomed to cattle work, is quickly trained into a first class polo pony, since as instant obedience to the rein is necessary in one as in the other.
On Argentine "estancias" hundreds of ponies are to be found which, on any of the polo grounds of the world, although they might prove lacking in the phenomenal speed displayed by the thoroughbreds.
The main diversion of Argentine polo players is working amongst the cattle on "estancias" which requires speed and dexterity, and therefore, when he takes up polo, all that he needs is to learn the rules of the stick and the general rules of the game.

REPORT SHOWS CAUSE OF FIRE LOSSES IN U. S.

An interesting summary of the main causes of fires during the last year in the United States has been received by local insurance men from the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The report stresses the value of Fire Prevention week, October 4 to 10.

According to the report, the six main causes of fires have been defective flues and chimneys, sparks on roofs, stoves, furnaces, burners and pipes, and matches and smoking. Unknown causes of fires still are great, it is pointed out. A total of $27,000,000 has been lost in fires of unknown origin. The next largest loss has come from fires which have gone beyond the control of the fire fighters and spread over large areas. Sparks on roofs have caused $8,625,000 damage in the last year. Matches and smoking are blamed for a $4-621,000 fire loss. There is an outbreak of fire every three minutes in some form in the United States, according to the Underwriters' report. More than 225,750 fires were reported last year.

At a meeting of the insurance men last Monday, a committee was appointed to co-operate with the Santa Ana department again this year in Fire Prevention week.
Plans are at present being formulated for the observance.

WINBIGLER IS AGAIN SPEAKER AT LUNCH CLUB

Instrumental selections from well known operas and classical compositions by a picked sextet of the Santa Ana Municipal band, under direction of Prof. D. Cianfoni; a travel talk by Theo. A. Winbigler, recently returned from a trip around the world, and an impromptu "close up" before a regular picture camera, featured the luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club, held in St.
Ann's Inn.

A record attendance was reported by the secretary. In addition to visiting Kiwanians from different parts of the Southland, the guest report included the names of several prominent professional and business men. The program was in charge of Arthur May.

To Hawaiian Islands
In the course of his travel talk, Winbigler took his auditors from the Golden Gate to the smooth seas and balmy breezes of the mid-Pacific, where he stopped to describe the charms of the Hawaiian islands, with their "hula" hula dancers and surf riding at Waikiki Beach. Crossing the Pacific, he described the principal points of interest in China and Japan, touching upon houses, customs, life, religion, all cast in a different mold, and matters of thrilling interest to the stranger.

"Landing in Manila is like getting home, for there we were greeted with the Stars and Stripes," he said, speaking of his experiences in the Philippines.
From Manila, the log took him through sunlit southern seas, among coral islands, to Singapore, the nerve center of the British empire, to mystic, fascinating India, properly termed "the land of religion."

Egypt Is Described
Of timely interest was the speaker's description of Egypt, with its historic scenes, its mighty memorials of heroic deeds, its everlasting records of struggles and achievements.

He dwelt at some length on the Holy Land, the cradle of the Christian church, and Rome, "the eternal city," where worshippers in their desire to do homage to the founder of the church, forget their differences of belief.

The motion picture scenes were taken on the hotel grounds by the Richard P. Young productions, Burbank, under direction of S. S.
Harralson, and will form part of a picture, "Painted Trails," to be released within a month to leading motion picture houses.

FAIR EXHIBITORS TO BE INSTRUCTED

Instruction for county fair exhibitors will be held in the farm bureau office August 11 and 12, with Prof. William J. Norton, of the University of California, in charge. It was announced today by John R. Ragan, superintendent of exhibits for the fair.

Professor Norton, who is considered one of the best exhibit experts in the country, recently returned from a tour which took him to various eastern and middle western fairs. Pictures showing exhibits at other places will be shown here.

The fair management is making considerable headway in securing exhibits for the fair. September 22 to 26, it is said. Leading oil, farm machinery and domestic appliance companies have taken space. A large insurance firm is completing plans for a novel exhibit.

TAMMANY HALL FATE AT STAKE WITH NO CHIEF

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The political conflict which is stirring this city at the moment is not so much concerned with political ambitions and fate of any one man, but has resolved itself into the question as to whether or not Tammany can rule New York without a "big boss."

There is admitted chaos in the city democratic ranks and there is no one at the Tammany wigwag in Fourteenth street who can say yes or no and have the dictum carry the necessary and hauling first one way and then another, until in the language of a one-time famous statesman, no one appears to know where he is.

Tammany Has No Boss
Tammany is without a boss. It has a quintet of borough leaders, but when it comes to bossing a big political job, five leaders are unruly. Tammany has functioned in the past with one strong hand at the wheel. That hand is not there today.

Richard Croker was the strong head of his day. Then came Charlie Murphy, the silent boss. Murphy wasn't so strong to begin with and many thought that, with Croker's death, Tammany's days were numbered. But Murphy and his silent methods soon dissipated all such ideas and the time quickly came when a nod from his wise head meant political life or death in the big city. Murphy did not always have his way, either, but he knew when and how to compromise and he made every compromise look to the faithful like a great Tammany victory.

No One Replaces Murphy
But Boss Murphy has gone and no one has arisen to fill his shoes. Gov. Al Smith could have done so. He could have been the big white chief at the wigwag; his word would have been law. But the governor sidestepped the job. He wanted to remain at Albany for a spell and then perhaps to go to Washington as senator. Al Smith never in his own mind or heart has cherished the idea that he could be nominated for the presidency or elected to that office. A great many people said that, even if Al did decline the nominal leadership of Tammany hall, he would be the real power behind the throne. The opponents of Tammany are trying to place the blame for the present situation in respect of the mayoralty at the governor's door. To be a political boss is one thing, and to be an aspirant for office is quite something again.

The governor has found that the two do not go hand in hand, so to speak, and he has tried to keep his skirts as clear as possible of the imbroglio which is threatening Tammany's right to rule.

O'laney Nominal Ruler
Judge George W. O'laney is nominally the ruler of Tammany hall. He is the successor, but not the logical successor, of Boss Murphy. The judge is a splendid type of citizen and certainly has added poise and dignity—one might almost say class—to the wigwag; but he is a judge by disposition and temperament; he is not the hard-fisted fighter that Tammany needs. He does not crack the whip, nor does he act as if he owned a whip. The judge believes in conferences; there is a report that he even believes in primaries. Primaries are all right in an organization like Tammany provided the word is passed down the line in advance as to how the ballots are to be marked. But an "open" primary is something to make both Croker and Murphy do flip-flops in their moulty graves.

So Tammany for the first time in more than 30 years is going into a mayoralty election without a big boss and the floundering that is everywhere apparent tells how surely the big chiefs of the past are missed. Tammany got by the state and presidential elections last year in pretty good shape. Tammany doesn't much care who is president. Al Smith led his own forces to victory in the state. But today Tammany faces a campaign which means more to it than all the state and national affairs. Can Tammany continue to reign supreme in the city? The city is Tammany's life—its bread and butter and meat and drink.

Weakness Is Disclosed
The Tammany weakness has been evident in its dealings with Mayor Hylan. Tammany has not wanted Hylan for two years or more, but has not been able to get rid of him. There has been no boss to give the mayor the "gate." Tammany has appeared afraid and no boss of the jungle could be more despised than a tiger afraid. Efforts have been made to induce Governor Smith to "hang the crepe" on the mayor, but the governor has had other fish to fry or to catch and has passed the buck right back to the Tammany leaders, who are split into pro-Hylan and anti-Hylan groups and don't know just what to do unless they can fall back upon a primary.

Tammany's life is at stake and there is the sad lack of a leadership in the dire dilemma.

Man Shot While Hunting Deer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The first deer hunting accident of the year was reported here today.

Louis Casa Grande, of Vallejo, was brought here suffering from gunshot wounds inflicted by a friend while hunting in the Orna-baun valley, near Cloverdale.

He was pressing through the brush when the gun of a friend, following closely behind, was discharged accidentally. Casa Grande's condition is serious, it was said.

Court Notes

Property Reverts to Son

Because all her property came to her from her son, Mrs. Ysabel Plumed, of Santa Ana, returned it to him at death. It was shown by her will, which was on file today in superior court for probate. The estate, valued at $500, was left exclusively to the son, Frank Reyes, nothing being given to the husband, Mari Plumed, or three other children.

Reyes, represented by Attorneys E. T. Langley and West and West, filed the probate petition.

Leaves $800 Estate

An estate valued at $800 was left by the late Julius Schwenker, of Anaheim, who died July 26, according to a petition filed today in superior court by the widow, Alma Schwenker, who seeks letters of administration. The widow, two sisters, Stella and Carrie Schwenker, of Anaheim, and a brother, Frank Schwenker, of Phoenix, Ariz., are the legal heirs.

License Dance Hall

Following authorization by the board of supervisors, a dance hall license was issued today to Mrs. Carol G. Lawrence of Laguna Beach.

Estate Valued at $1000

The widow and four children of the late Francis E. James, of El Toro, will share his estate, valued at $1000, according to a petition for letters of administration on file in superior court. Mrs. Rebecca James, the widow and petitioner, is represented by Attorney Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana.

Widow Inherits $11,000

Vern C. Littleton, Fullerton rancher, who died July 13, left his entire estate, valued at $11,000, to his widow, Dora Littleton, excepting $5 to each of his two daughters, Miriam, 23, and Katherine, 17, it was revealed today when his will was filed for probate in superior court.

Attorneys Allen and Lyon of Fullerton, represent the petitioner, Mrs. Littleton, who resides on South Spadra road, Fullerton. The will, in setting forth the disposition of the estate, expressed confidence that Mrs. Littleton would ably take care of the two daughters "both morally and financially."

Estate to Husband

Mrs. Sarah J. Pendleton, of Fullerton, who died June 20, left her estate of $2287 to her husband, A. T. Pendleton, under terms of her will which was on file for probate in superior court today.

Her will stated that she purposely left no legacy to her three children, Mrs. Bessie Staley, Mrs. Josephine Linebarger and Lloyd Pendleton, all of whom live at Fullerton. The estate consists of Edison company stock.

Petition for probate of the will was filed by the husband, who is represented by Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel, of Santa Ana.

Wife Too Conscientious

Mrs. Emily N. Fitts was too conscientious, in the opinion of her husband, Dexter W. Fitts, of Fullerton, according to divorce petition, which Attorney Kenneth H. Burns had filed today in superior court.

When Fitts wrote a letter of application for a job, his wife chided him for falsely claiming qualifications he did not possess, she said. He cursed her for her wifely interest in his morals, she alleged.

Fitts, she said, lost a job with a Fullerton newspaper for being drunk. He lost another with a Los Angeles newspaper because he wrote bad checks, she said. She charged that he gambled too, and lost his pay check that way.

They were married at Whitier, Nov. 1, 1924, and separated nine months later, on last Saturday. The wrecked home, it was revealed, is expecting a visit from the stork next November.

Ask Administration Letters
Letters of administration over the estate of the late James A. Crane, of Santa Ana, who died July 21, were asked in a petition by J. D. Crane, of Willows, on file in superior court.

The petitioner, a brother of the deceased, and Mrs. Fanny Willard, of Hughson, a sister, are heirs to

LA FOLLETTE VICTORY SEEN IN WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 6.—Unless there should be a complete change of sentiment here within the next two months, Robert M. La Follette, jr., will be nominated and elected to serve the unexpired term of his father in the U. S. senate. Young La Follette will run and win in the regular Republican primary, it is said. There is a disposition on the part of some of the so-called stalwart Republicans of the state to run a candidate of their own in the special election, if La Follette wins the nomination. But the word has been emphasized in the very near future, that President Coolidge and the entire power of the Republican national committee will be back of the primary nominee, even if La Follette is the victor.

Coolidge Objects to Fight
In other words, President Coolidge and his most intimate political friends, Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee, are determined there shall be no opposition to La Follette. The party is to be kept intact, even by the swallowing of the young La Follette to walk in the footsteps of his father. President Coolidge wants no rifts in the Grand Old Party. He wants it to go into the campaign of 1926 with an unbroken front. Furthermore, he wants the machine held closely knit together for the campaign of 1928 which may once more place him in the White House.

The president and Chairman Butler do not believe the time is ripe to make a fight against young La Follette, even if they do feel the urgent need of stalwart party support in the senate. There is a disposition to believe at Swampscott and at Washington that La Folletteism in Wisconsin may express its dying gasp. The La Follette bloc still is strong enough to put over the son of its founder, but there are plenty of signs that it may soon be in the process of disintegration.

Blaine Is Out Of It
It is perfectly well recognized here that the influence of the administration will be thrown so far as possible against the nomination of young "Bob," but the strength of the opposition which the stalwarts have been able to throw into the fight is not sufficient to cause alarm in the La Follette camp. Furthermore, it seems there will be no opposition within the La Follette forces to the nomination of the dead senator's son.

There was talk for a time that Gov. J. J. Blaine, a La Follette lieutenant, might enter the contest, but he is definitely out of the race, protesting to make a fight next year against Senator Lenroot in the regular Republican primaries.

Once La Follette is nominated, the administration at Washington will do all in its power to prevent a Republican fight against him, despite the fact that one of the stalwarts now in the field is preaching that loyalty to Mr. Coolidge and his policies calls for the election of a "regular," regardless of the results of the primary. If the people of Wisconsin, voting in the primaries, desire that young "Bob" shall serve out his father's term, Mr. Coolidge is willing that he should be enrolled in the Republican ranks.

Opponents to La Follette
The principal opponents of young "Bob" in the primaries will be former Gov. Francis E. McGovern, once a La Follette leader, then a Roosevelt "Bull Moose," and now a "regular," and former State Senator Roy Wilcox, who is the most active force with which the La Follette machine will have to deal.

The situation has been very carefully canvassed here and there is no question but that the La Follette strength or sentiment still is potent enough to send young "Bob" to Washington. What will happen after that is something else again. Most political observers believe the machine will go to pieces. "This thought may be influencing the administration in its determination to swallow young "Bob" at this time, in the hope that he may be gobbled up in the near future."

the $3753 estate, which consists of cash and securities.

Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel, Santa Ana, represent the petitioner.

Incorporation Articles
Articles of incorporation for the L. D. Coffing company, Santa Ana automobile firm with $200,000 capital stock, were on file today at the county clerk's office. Directors of the company are shown to be L. D. Coffing and Alice H. Coffing, of Santa Ana, and C. M. Coffing of Sacramento.

Desertion Alleged
Desertion and non-support were charges made against James Chapman, of Huntington Beach, in a divorce complaint filed in superior court today by his wife, Mae Chapman. Attorneys Blodgett and Blodgett, Huntington Beach, represent Mrs. Chapman. Married at Newton, Ill., Oct. 17, 1907, the Chapmans separated at Long Beach, Oct. 22, 1922. They have no children.

WIDOW MUST ELECT HOW TO SHARE ESTATE

The alternative of accepting an outright legacy of $5000 and a life interest in the remainder of a $50,000 estate left by her husband, or claiming her community share of the estate and allowing the rest to go to her children, was provided for Mrs. Anna Heitschusen, of Anaheim, in the will of her husband, the late John D. Heitschusen, who died July 25.

The will suggested the first mentioned choice, but arranged for distribution of the half of the estate left by his wife, should she elect to take her community share. The estate has an annual income of $5000, it was estimated. Mrs. Heitschusen, represented by Attorney Leonard Evans, of Anaheim, filed the document for probate in superior court today.

Twelve children of the couple are named to receive the estate at the death of their mother, or their father's community share at once if Mrs. Heitschusen should take the alternative course. One of the daughters, Mrs. Anna Borchard, 40, of Anaheim, was bequeathed $10 in a codicil to the will, the others to participate more extensively in the estate's distribution. The other heirs are Johanna Terrace, 42, Los Angeles; Emma Stinchfield, 38, Olive; Katie Eder, 34, Westminster; Ida Anderson, 32, of Anaheim; a stepdaughter of the deceased, Ella Shambau, 30, of Inglewood; John Heitschusen, 28, Anaheim; Deidrich Heitschusen, 27, Anaheim; Minnie Smith, 25, Inglewood; Walter Heitschusen, 23, Anaheim; Arthur Heitschusen, 20, Anaheim; Olga Heitschusen, 15, Anaheim.

Professor Urges Metric System

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Millions of years of time, now wasted by school children in learning the archaic English system of weights and measures, would be saved in a single generation of use of the metric system, according to Prof. E. C. Bingham, chairman of the metric committee of the American Chemical society, in annual convention here. "It would also save millions of dollars a year in book-keeping," Professor Bingham declared.

BALBOA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BALBOA, CALIFORNIA

Mr. A. L. Olinger, Secretary, Chamber of Commerce,
Santa Ana, California.

My dear Mr. Olinger:

Here is good news for you and other Southland Chamber of Commerce executives who are working for the greatness of Southern California.

Business is good in Balboa and Newport—the best we have ever had. Rentals of $1,000 a month have been offered for some of our Bay shore homes; the price of choice home sites has advanced 500% in three years. Several of Southern California's wealthiest investors have recently bought here.

We truly regret that more of your citizens could not enjoy Newport Bay with us this year. But you can be with us next year.

For the SOUTHERN SEAS CLUB, pictured above, a community enterprise backed by the leaders of Newport, Balboa and Orange County, will be ready, with hotel-like service, and apartments for members—some to be privately owned.

I hope I may have the pleasure of seeing you down here, and shall be glad to show you and any of your friends, the Club's temporary quarters, and plans for the new building.

Yours cordially,
J. C. Healey

BUILDERS OF PRESENT DAY SPECIALISTS, SAYS EXPERT

County Exchange Members Told Special Knowledge Is Now Essential

INFORMATION ON PLASTER GIVEN

Organization Plans High Class Exhibit at Fair; Committee Appointed

The building industry today is a specialized industry and one that calls for special knowledge, Paul W. Penland, Los Angeles research engineer for the Blue Diamond company, declared in a talk at the monthly meeting of the Builders Exchange of Orange County, in the G. A. R. hall, Santa Ana, Tuesday night. Penland is one of the best known experts in his line in the country.

"The building industry has been going through an evolution process during the past 15 years and during that time many new methods of construction have come into vogue," Penland said. "Ways of getting material to the jobs and methods of placing the material in a building have undergone a great change."

Modern Methods Now Used
"Years ago, when a builder wanted rock or sand, he hired a teamster to go to the river bed and dig it out for him. Nowadays, rock and gravel are shipped in carload lots and brought to the job in trucks built especially for that kind of work."

Speaking of the builders' exchanges, Penland declared that they represent collective effort on the part of the best minds in the building industry.

"Since time immemorial, men have banded together for mutual benefit and self protection," said the speaker. "We can't stand still, for if we do we go backward. We must continually strive to advance for it is by advancement that we succeed."

Better Work Being Done
"Because of such organizations as the exchanges, better construction work is being done and this reacts to the advantage of both the owners and the men who do the work."

"The line of demarcation between the mechanic and the professional man is very fine. Anyone who uses his brain along with his brawn is a professional man."

Speaking of plaster, Penland stated that 80 per cent of the visible material in a house is plaster.

Two Primary Ingredients
"All cement materials are made from two primary ingredients, calcium carbonate and calcium sulphate," Penland said. "These

Who's Who in Community Development

The 300 pounds of plastering contractor in the above portrait is none other than Charles C. Pippas, senior member of the firm of Pippas brothers, plastering contractors. Pippas, who has resided in this city for the last 20 years, entered the business with his father, the late Walter Q. Pippas, many years ago. Since the death of his father, Charles and his brother, R. F. Pippas, better known as "Buck," have been in the business together. Charlie handles the business transactions while "Buck" oversees the work.

About 20 men are employed by this firm and Charlie says there is no job too big nor too small for them. They do both interior and exterior stucco and plaster work for business, residential and industrial buildings.

With his brother, Charlie has constructed many houses in this city, which he later sold, although he owns considerable rental property here and around the county.

Charlie's hobby is chickens. He recently started a chicken ranch near Santa Ana. He is fond of all outdoor sports and no ball game is complete if he is not there.

He has a genial disposition and it is owing to his jovial and kindly manner that he has so many warm friends.

Firemen Subdue Blaze In Prison

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 6.—Firemen fought a stubborn fire in the Maryland penitentiary at noon yesterday while 200 policemen stood guard around the prison to prevent escape of convicts.

The blaze was confined to the prison furniture factory, where 44 men were at work.

Two firemen and a convict were slightly injured. Ten convicts in the burning factory had narrow escapes.

One of the houses, a nine-room affair of frame and stucco construction, will cost $15,000. It will be 40 by 60 feet in size. The other will have seven rooms and will involve the expenditure of $12,000. It will be 41 by 43 feet in size.

Clarence Safely, of 739 Locust avenue, Long Beach, will erect a $6,000 house and a garage at 1541 East Fourth street. The house will have six rooms and will be of frame and stucco.

Another Long Beach man, C. B. Lee, of 1777 Alamitos avenue, will erect a residence and a garage at 2421 Hellotrope drive at a cost of $5,000. The buildings will be of brick. The residence will have six rooms.

NEW H. B. FIRM TO RECLAIM RUBBER

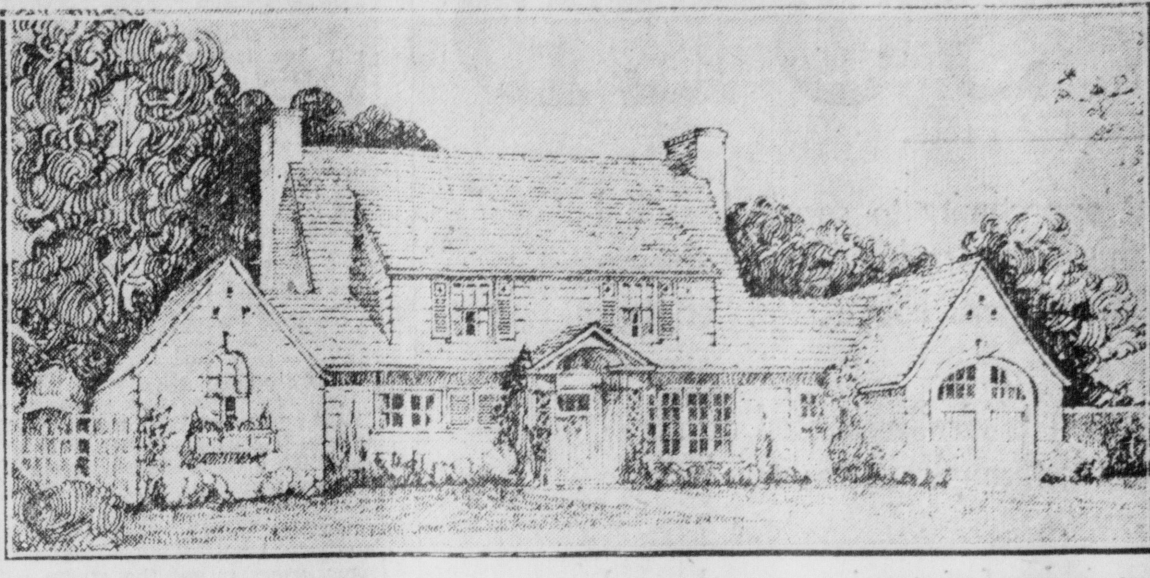

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—A step toward redemption of the American rubber market will be taken with the start of active operations here by the Rubber Products Company of America, according to W. H. Yetman, president of the corporation.

Yetman, who spoke before the chamber of commerce recently, declared that his company is entirely financed and will start operations at once. That the process used by the company in reclaiming old rubber from worn out tires and other rubber goods will revolutionize the rubber industry and allow the United States to combat the British prices until American rubber plantations are producing, was the declaration of Yetman.

The process as followed by the company utilizes every piece of old tire or rubber article. By a secret operation, the rubber is removed from the tires and is given almost as much life as originally, it is said.

The success of the plant will demonstrate to other people that the thing is feasible and it will not be long before many plants of a similar nature will be operating throughout the country, Yetman says. There is already enough rubber in the United States to last for many years, if the old tires are used, he claims.

$5000 IS PAID FOR ACRE LOT ON GREENLEAF

Paying, it is said, $5,000, N. H. Hilton, who came here about four months ago from San Luis Obispo, has purchased the southwest corner of Flower and Santa Clara streets. The seller was Cliff Greenleaf, of Greenleaf and Santa Clara streets.

The property purchased by Hilton comprises an acre and is part of eight-acre tract owned by Greenleaf. The entire property is set to walnuts.

It is understood that the purchaser plans construction of a handsome home.

According to Greenleaf, he probably will receive more walnuts from his grove this year than ever before. The trees are heavily laden and the nuts are of good size, he says.

REALTY DIRECTORS PLAN L. A. SESSION

The third quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the California Real Estate association will be held in the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, August 15, at 9:30 a. m. Santa Ana men who will attend the gathering are Frank Pope, vice president and director of the association; Carl Mock, director; Freeman H. Bloodgood, chairman of the legislative committee, and W. B. Martin, secretary of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors. Secretaries of various boards will meet in Los Angeles at the same time.

Board Approves Agreement for Water Survey

Agreement reached this week by representatives of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties for approximately $4170 from each county to finance a water survey of the Santa Ana river, has been ratified by the Orange county board of supervisors. It was made known today. A similar appropriation is authorized for next year. The current appropriations provide for half of a two-year survey program and will match a $25,000 appropriation made by the state for this purpose.

Book Containing 22 Plans Is Being Distributed Here

A plan book which contains 22 plans designed by some of the best architects in the state is being distributed by the Barr Lumber company as part of its service to builders. It was announced today.

The best feature of the plans is being the result of an architects' competition in which 48 certified California architects took part. Seventy-eight plans were submitted by the contestants and from this number the 22 were chosen for the book.

The book also contains 30 pages of suggestions and facts of real importance to anyone contemplating building. It is declared.

The books are being given free and anyone who desires may secure one by calling at the Barr office.

BANK ADVERTISING IN POST THIS WEEK

The Bank of Italy is going in for national advertising and the August 8 issue of the Saturday Evening Post will carry its first national copy, according to word received by the local branch from F. R. Herman, assistant vice president.

It is estimated that approximately 1,000,000 persons in California alone will see the issue, since the Post has a circulation of 200,000 in this state. It is estimated that each issue of the magazine is read by five persons. According to Herman, the Post goes to 2326 families in Santa Ana.

Since the Bank of Italy is a California institution, the state as a whole will receive a large amount of favorable publicity from the advertisement, Herman says.

FIGURES SHOW BUILDING WORK IS INCREASING

With permits aggregating $62,945 already granted, August bids fair to be one of the largest months thus far this year. Records at the office of Building Inspector W. S. Decker reveal that for the last five years the eighth month has seen a large amount of construction work going on.

August totals since 1920 are: 1924, $126,670; 1923, $429,000; 1922, $264,000; 1921, $213,000; 1920, $297,000.

Looks for Big Month
"From the way permits are coming in and from what builders and contractors tell me, I am inclined to believe that August may prove to be the largest construction month this year," said Decker. "The permit for the Broadway Improvement company's theater and office structure probably will be taken out this month and this, with others that will undoubtedly be issued, will send the aggregate skyward."

Decker's figures also show that more building is going on here this year than last. The year-to-date total being $1,318,624, compared with $1,286,329 for the 1924 year-to-date total.

The permits issued thus far this year are divided as follows: January, $226,740; February, $237,966; March, $184,837; April, $147,166; May, $132,415; June, $214,520; July, $113,495.

Many Homes Being Built
The majority of the permits issued since the first of the year have been for dwellings, with the permits for this type of construction averaging around $4,000. Very few cheap houses have been erected in Santa Ana, building records prove.

Reports from various sections of the United States indicate that more construction work is going on now than last year. According to a nation-wide survey recently completed by S. W. Strauss & Co., the first six months of 1925 showed a gain of five per cent over the corresponding period of 1924.

Lumber Man To Be Speaker At Realty Session

O. H. Barr, president of the Barr Lumber company, will be the chief speaker at the weekly luncheon session of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, at Ketter's cafe, Friday, according to an announcement today by J. E. Livesey sr., president of the Board. Barr will trace the various steps from the time a tree is cut until it is made into lumber and used in building.

BEACH VALUES SHOW INCREASE OF 30 PER CENT

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—Property values at Newport Beach within the last year increased $3,000,000, according to figures made known today by V. A. Sebring, city assessor.

The advanced values show a 30 per cent jump over last year's assessments, he said. The total assessed valuation has mounted to $10,500,000, compared with $7,500,000 for 1924.

"Most of this increase is due to the general rise in real values," Sebring declared. "The selling price of property has advanced in some cases eight times during the past year."

"Building activity has been strong in the harbor area. Along the bay front, dozens of new homes ranging in price from $5,000 to $20,000 have been constructed."

The total for building permits this year has mounted to $300,000, according to License Collector J. A. Porter.

From other sources, proof is furnished that the city is advancing rapidly. The First National bank of Newport Beach had a 35 per cent increase in business over last year and the Bank of Balboa has an 18 per cent increase, officers stated.

During July, realty transactions have amounted to approximately $250,000 in Newport Beach and Balboa, according to estimates.

Business activities have created an optimistic outlook for the harbor section. Recently the city trustees voted to call a $350,000 water bond election to care for the increased growth.

1473 LOTS SOLD IN 2 YEARS' TIME

A total of 1473 lots in the Corona Del Mar tract, a part of Newport Beach, have been sold in the two years that the Sims-Guedel company of Los Angeles has had the property, it was announced here today. But 130 lots remain and these will be sold within a short time, it is predicted.

"Free excursions," "free lectures" and "free barbecues" have played no part in the selling campaign, company officials declare. No high pressure salesmen have been employed and the principal selling arguments used were the beauty of the location, the quality of the soil and the low prices offered, it is asserted.

The property was originally subdivided in 1904 when a comparatively few lots were sold. The difficulty of access and the limited supply of water have held back development of the property, but with the state highway now running through the tract and an ample water supply assured, it is believed that an active building campaign will begin. The contract for the paving of the highway has been awarded and work is scheduled to start after Labor day and be finished by Jan. 1, 1926.

The beach at the mouth of Corona Del Mar canyon has been deeded to the city of Newport Beach, with provision that no privately owned buildings shall ever be erected there. This assures that the beach will always be available to the public.

Business enterprises are permitted along the highway portion of the tract, but the remainder of the property is restricted for residential purposes, it is announced.

Award Contract For Addition to Juvenile Home

After brief consideration by the county supervisors, the bid of $33,290, submitted by William Rohrbacher, Santa Ana contractor, for the contract to build an addition to the county juvenile home has been accepted. It was announced today. Bids on the contract were opened Tuesday, Rohrbacher's being the lowest of six submitted, but all being above the architect's estimate of $30,000. The supervisors awarded the contract for installing a heating system to George J. Coking, Santa Ana, who bid $1726.

BUILDING IN DENVER
DENVER.—Permits for building construction since January 1 in this city now total $16,120,000, compared with $12,911,150 for the similar portion of 1924.

NEW TENANTS IN MERCEREAU BUILDING ARE WELL LOCATED

Rebuilt Downtown Structure Proves Pleasing to Store and Office Men

NO DIFFICULTY IN GETTING TENANTS

Structure Is So Situated That It Is Much in Demand by Business Firms

That the Mercereau building, at the southwest corner of Sycamore and Fifth streets, is one of the best situated structures in the city for business purposes, is seen in the statement of Neal Beisel, of Beisel's Leather Goods store, that in the two weeks he has been in the building, his business has increased every day.

"We have been busy every minute since we moved into the Mercereau building," said Mr. Beisel today. "We are very well satisfied without new home. It is surprising the number of people who go by every day."

Mr. Beisel has been in business in Santa Ana for the last 22 years. His first location was at 113 West Fourth street, where he remained for six years. From there he removed to 222 West Fourth street, staying there for nine years. His last location prior to removal to the Mercereau building, was at 305 West Fourth street. He was in business at that location for seven years. Mr. Beisel handled harness exclusively when he opened his store 22 years ago, but has gradually added to his stock until now he handles everything in the leather line.

Mr. Beisel really has two stores in the Mercereau building, since he has a 20 by 25 room on the Fifth street side. His harness shop is located in this room.

W. W. Ward, who formerly was located at 221 West Fourth street, has opened a soft drink and cigar business at 416 North Sycamore street. Mr. Ward has been engaged in business here for the last five years. Prior to going to 321 West Fourth, he operated a store in Hill's market. The rear of the

CORONA DEL MAR 92% SOLD

On last Friday we announced the last opportunity to secure beautiful CORONA DEL MAR property of the original subdividers at the remarkably low original prices and on the original liberal terms of payment.

CORONA DEL MAR (Balboa Palisades) is ideally situated on Newport Bay and the Ocean, and is traversed through its center by the newly constructed State Coast Highway.

This property is just beginning a period of intensive growth and development.

The opportunity of securing at astonishingly low prices, a summer home site, a permanent home site or a business property in a rapidly developing community, located on a paved State Coast Highway adjacent to both Orange County Harbor and the Ocean, is actually unique even in wonderful Orange County. Business lots, on the State Coast Highway and in the center of more than 1500 sold residential lots, are available as low as $450. Residence lots $250, $300 and $350.

Every development on the south coast from Long Beach to San Diego benefits this property. Every development of Newport Harbor brings great benefit to this property. The pavement of the State Coast Highway, now already graded and for which paving bids have been received by the California Highway Commission, and which paving is scheduled for completion this Fall will bring enormous benefit to this property. This improvement has made the property not only most accessible, but most popular, traversed by thousands daily. CORONA DEL MAR is the only town directly on the State Coast Highway between Huntington Beach and Laguna Beach, a stretch of fourteen miles, Huntington Beach being eight miles distant and Laguna Beach six miles distant.

The new water works system, unexcelled in California, has just been completed, is now being tested and will be ready to serve in September. This availability of water will start a building campaign by a fair proportion of approximately seven hundred owners of approximately nine hundred and fifty lots, which have been purchased and paid for and deeded by us to the owners. Nearly three hundred additional buyers are rapidly completing payments on approximately five hundred other lots.

Our original CORONA DEL MAR subdivisions contained a total of sixteen hundred and three lots, of which nearly fifteen hundred have been sold, thus leaving available for purchase at original and subdividers (not re-sale prices) only about one hundred lots. Over 70% of our CORONA DEL MAR property has been purchased by residents of Orange County.

This is the last opportunity to secure a part of this beautiful property at original prices. Never again will beach property be offered at such low prices and terms. Drive along the new Coast Highway, across the new Bay Bridge to our Tract Office.

Pershing Talks Arbitration In South America

ARICA, Chile, Aug. 6.—Opening the first plenary session of the Tacna-Arica plebiscite commission, Gen. John J. Pershing declared yesterday that Chilean and Peruvian acceptance of the American award as a basis for the final settlement of the Tacna-Arica controversy was regarded with deep satisfaction by friends and neighbors throughout the Americas and by all who would advance the cause of peace in the world.

"Since the war," he said, "all nations have been groping for means of settling disputes with dignity and honor. Opportunity for leadership toward this worthy goal has fallen on the two nations here represented."

NEW TENANTS ARE WELL LOCATED

Ward room has been subleased by him to George J. Semons, who will establish a three-chair barber shop there. Semons came to Santa Ana from San Francisco.

Next to Ward's is the Whitefield studios. Lewis Harris, local manager, asserts that the studio will do portrait work exclusively.

The establishment opened for business Monday. While the main office is situated in Fullerton at present, it is planned to make the Santa Ana studio the headquarters for the firm within a short time, according to Harris.

Harris will be assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Whitefield in the management of the studio. Mrs. Whitefield and her husband have been engaged in photographic work throughout California for the last 13 years. They operated studios in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Hanford before removing to Fullerton.

In order to acquaint the public with the studio's work, a special introductory price has been set, Manager Harris announces.

Hornaday's, new and used merchandise, is located next door to the Whitefield studios. Everything in new and used goods is being handled. The business was established 13 years ago by J. H. Hornaday. Mr. Hornaday opened a similar store in Anaheim.

The Hornaday firm has frontage of 30 feet, with a large "L" space at the rear. The firm remained in the building all during the alteration work.

The Santa Ana Building and Loan association has the corner space in the building. Since the firm's establishment, March 30, 1923, a total of $300,000 has been loaned on 118 home in Santa Ana and vicinity.

"The Santa Ana Building and Loan association is owned and controlled locally," said Cotton Mather, secretary of the organization. "We loan chiefly on small homes, though we have a few loans on houses which cost more than $5000."

Officers of the association are: President, O. H. Barr; vice president, L. L. Lott; secretary, Cotton Mather; directors, W. T. Taylor, C. S. Crookshank, George F. Munro, C. W. Rairdon and George Dunton. The firm is incorporated for $2,000,000. It has a paid in capital of $125,000.

The association formerly was located at 111 West Third street.

Pleased With New Home.
"We are very much pleased with our new home and feel that the Mercereau building is one of the best locations in Santa Ana," said Mather. "We believe that we have one of the best situated rooms in the city."

John A. Henderson, who was the first carrier boy employed by The Register, has an office in the same room with the building and loan association. Henderson handles fire, automobile, compensation, liability, plate glass, burglary, bond, accident, health, life and earthquake insurance.

Henderson has lived in Santa Ana for 21 years. He attended the local high school and after graduation went to Occidental college. He recently was elected president of the Santa Ana Association of Insurance Agents.

Before moving to the present location, Henderson was located in the First National Bank building. He has been engaged in the insurance business for five years.

During the time he was employed by The Register, Henderson filled several positions. At the time he resigned, he was telegraph editor.

C. E. Long, who has been connected with the insurance business for a number of years, is associated with Henderson as a salesman.

Bonds Deal in Bonds.
Next to the room occupied by the association and Henderson is the office of G. W. Bond and Son, bonds. Mr. Bond and his son, Clarence, are newcomers to Santa Ana, having resided here but a short time. The senior Bond resided in Albuquerque, N. M., before removing to Santa Ana and his son resided in Los Angeles.

The climate here and the fact that the family was financially interested in the W. H. Booth and company, wholesale grocers here, were the main reasons for the family deciding to locate in Orange county, the senior Bond said today.

"We are handling high grade bonds exclusively," said G. W. Bond. "They are bonds which we know are sound. While we have just started business in Santa Ana, we believe that the territory has great possibilities."

Pacific Finance Corporation.
The Pacific Finance corporation has an office at 212 West Fifth street. The firm was organized five years ago with a capital of $300,000 and has grown until now the present capital investment is more than $6,000,000.

E. A. Mitchell, manager of the Santa Ana unit of the corporation, is well known in Orange county. He formerly was with the Second National Securities company, of San Diego. He has had considerable experience in automobile sales, as well as finance, and his services will undoubtedly prove beneficial to automobile dealers of this county.

The Pacific corporation maintains a service department for the various auto dealers. Included in this service is a complete price list on all automobiles.

According to Manager Mitchell, the Pacific corporation is the largest finance firm on the Pacific coast.

The corporation has offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Long Beach, Fresno, Bakersfield, Sacramento, El Centro and Portland, Ore. The Los Angeles office is located in a building owned by the corporation.

The Mercereau structure is a remodeled building, approximately $10,000 having been expended by the owner, L. D. Mercereau, in making alterations.

The original structure was erected about 25 years ago. Mercereau has owned the property since 1912. It is considered one of the most valuable corners in Santa Ana.

The building occupies ground space 100 by 125 feet. There are approximately 10,500 square feet of space in the building. Alterations were commenced May 1.

All rooms in the building have been taken. According to the owner, he could have rented several additional rooms.

RECEIVE 1200 INQUIRIES IN SEVEN MONTHS

Inquiries regarding Santa Ana being received by the chamber of commerce from all parts of the world, A. L. Olinger, executive secretary, declared today.

During the seven months ended August 1, approximately 1200 inquiries were received here, the majority being from persons of moderate means who requested information regarding the price of property and the business possibilities of the community, Olinger stated.

Out of the 1200 letters, about 100 were from manufacturers who desired information regarding the industrial possibilities, the secretary asserted.

In replying to persons who expressed a desire to come to California if they were assured of a position, the chamber pointed out that newcomers should come prepared to finance themselves for several months, since this would give them ample time in which to look around carefully and choose the position for which they were best suited, Olinger said.

"The chamber has sent out 15,000 city booklets in the last seven months," Olinger said. "Five thousand of this number were taken by the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads to be placed in their racks throughout the country. The chamber of commerce in practically every city between San Diego and Seattle has local booklets on file."

"We have received letters asking about Santa Ana from all over the world. Recently one arrived written in Chinese."

Quite a number of persons passing through Santa Ana stop at the chamber office to inquire about conditions, Olinger says. Dr. W. D. Hunt, a retired physician, and family, and S. N. Parker, a contractor and builder and family, all of Emporia, Kas., who stopped here yesterday, like Santa Ana so well that they may come back this fall to locate, Olinger says. Dr. Hunt was a visitor here 12 years ago and commented on the remarkable growth of the city during the intervening time, the secretary stated.

were formed centuries ago and are still being formed. The people who inhabit the earth centuries from now will be using materials which are now in process of formation."

That a new plaster, which has very fine acoustic qualities, has been perfected and is now being used in Los Angeles was revealed by Penland. The plaster is very porous and will undoubtedly do away with the acoustic trouble which has confronted builders in the past, the expert said.

Present with Penland at the meeting were Harry V. Adams, head of the architectural department of the Blue Diamond firm, and J. Gammon, Orange county representative.

Plan Fair Exhibit
A committee to make arrangements for a high class exhibit at the county fair here, September 22 to 26, will be appointed soon by President E. T. Moore, members present expressing themselves as favoring an exhibit.

The meeting was arranged by the planners, with E. E. Patmor as chairman.

The place of the next session will be announced at a later date.

According to Manager Mitchell, the Pacific corporation is the largest finance firm on the Pacific coast.

The corporation has offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Long Beach, Fresno, Bakersfield, Sacramento, El Centro and Portland, Ore. The Los Angeles office is located in a building owned by the corporation.

The Mercereau structure is a remodeled building, approximately $10,000 having been expended by the owner, L. D. Mercereau, in making alterations.

The original structure was erected about 25 years ago. Mercereau has owned the property since 1912. It is considered one of the most valuable corners in Santa Ana.

The building occupies ground space 100 by 125 feet. There are approximately 10,500 square feet of space in the building. Alterations were commenced May 1.

All rooms in the building have been taken. According to the owner, he could have rented several additional rooms.

NEW ANAHEIM STRUCTURE TO COST $200,000

ANAHEIM, Aug. 6.—Work of clearing the site for the construction of a new $200,000 store building for the S. Q. R. store, was underway here today, as the old two-story structure at the corner of Center and Lemon, one of the landmarks of Anaheim's early business district, was being razed to make way for this new mark of progress.

South and Francis building contractors, hold the contract for the new building, which will be a two-story and basement structure and which is to be completed by January 1, 1926. The S. Q. R. store, which is owned by O. H. Renner and A. E. Schumacher, will occupy the entire building, expanding to fill both stories and basement.

The new structure, which has been designed by M. Eugene Durfee, local architect, is to have 56 feet frontage on Center street and 140 feet on Lemon street. It will be constructed of brick and artificial stone with its architecture an adaptation of Spanish and Italian renaissance. The exterior will be finished in artificial stone and cement plaster.

The new building will adjoin the block now occupying the east 58 feet of the property and the first two store rooms of this block will be opened into the first floor of the new building, which will provide a total frontage for the department store on Center street of 114 feet. Show windows will be provided on three streets, Center, Lemon and Oak.

Display of dry goods and miscellaneous lines will be featured on the first floor, while the two store rooms in connection will house the shoe department and men's furnishings department.

An electric passenger elevator will be provided to the second floor of the building, where ready-to-wear, millinery and art goods will be displayed. An up-to-date beauty parlor also will be established on this floor.

In HOLLYWOOD

By RUSSELL T. BIRDWELL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6.—Franz Geritz recently deserted the drab commercialism of art work in a newspaper office. He went to live in Los Angeles' Greenwich—a cross-section of the city's life which homes dreamers, writers, painters and failures.

His hair has grown long, anemously thin and stringy. His beard furzes along the rim of his cheek bones and chin. His face, more than ever, has become a Chinese mandarin mask.

He lives by the loaf of bread. He could get work in the studios, but he refuses to prostitute his art. He has been offered poster work, painting silken-clad legs for advertisements.

"No," he says to it all. "I prefer the loaf of bread and the satisfied conscience of a man who prefers art in preference to all that goes in the name of art for the sake of money."

While Ralph and Vera Lewis, veteran screen players, were celebrating their 24th wedding anniversary, Joseph Schildkraut was in court getting a divorce from Elsie Bartlett, noted stage player. They had been married a year.

Cheese and ham sandwiches are named after the stars in the Pico dilly cafe. A Gloria Swanson one sells for 50 cents and Pola's name-sake brings 75. The management avers he may be forced to make the prices equal, as inferences are being deducted.

"One's fame is incomplete until a sandwich or a cigar bears one's monicker," says Rita Carita of the De Mille film nursery.

Gloria Swanson and Pola Negri are playing "ring around the roses" these days. When Pola comes to Hollywood, Gloria hies to New York, and vice versa. Pola now being here, Gloria has just exited. This, in accordance with the studio policy of safety, "one queen to a hive."

Leaves from my Hollywood diary: In the sun-bathed morning with Katherine McDonald in the sunniness of her mansion home. A canary sings in the glass-enclosed reading den and Katherine's baby can be heard crying in the back yard. "These warm days are terrible on the little customer," says the "American Beauty." "He's a mighty fine little fellow, though. We've only had to give him castor oil once in his life, and he's a year old now."

Noon with Colleen Moore, the blarney miss, just returned from Europe. Lamenting because the Queen's doll house in London was closed to the public. Colleen is collecting dolls and baby trinkets. She shows me her doll house. Two-story miniature structure, possessing every concomitant from De Mille bathtub to a cigarette stand. Covering only three feet square, it represents more money than the average American home.

There is a touch of fateful irony in the recent arrest of Marshall Nellan, the director, for driving his car into a telephone pole while under the spell of inebriation.

Nellan is finishing his picture, "The Skyrocket," in which the much-exploited and married Peggy Hopkins Joyce plays the lead.

In order that Peggy might play in pictures, Nellan promised Will Hays that he would keep her on "the straight and narrow and out of the limelight."

This the director has done, but the clause with the "czar of the cinema" said nothing about Nellan anent the limelight, speeding cars and stubborn telephone poles.

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Today's stock market was decidedly mixed. Bursts of strength occurred in American Can, Mack Truck, General Railway Signal, Westinghouse Air Brake, and other high priced specialties coincident with heavy selling in motors, rubbers and equipments, and in recent pool favorites like Foundation company, Ward Baking "B" and Independent Oil and Gas.

The customary Thursday attempt to create nervousness over the possibility of an increase in the local bank rate was early squelched by the reductions in the bank of England rate from five to four per cent.

British rates have been 1 1/2 per cent against the New York discount rate of 3 1/2 per cent until the present reduction.

Bankers here consider the present spread of one per cent sufficiently wide to serve the purpose, but feel that the British rate would not have been reduced if there had been much chance of a higher New York rate.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Grain futures finished fractionally lower on the Board of Trade today. Price swings were narrow.

Definite weakness in wheat came late. This attitude brought heavy loads of grain into the pit and a steady downward revision.

Corn was inclined to follow the leading cereal. Precipitation in southwestern dry territory served to discourage buyers.

Cash trade was narrow. The closing prices showed fractional losses.

Provisions steadied late. Short bid prices up early but the advance was lost in late liquidating by leading buyers.

SAN FRANCISCO PROD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—There was a further break in the cantaloupe market due largely to a falling off in the local demand. There was no complaint as to quality generally, but dealers were buying a limited supply.

It was difficult to obtain higher than $1.50 for standard crates of pink meat melons. Raspberries were in light supply and much of the quality was unsatisfactory, due to shipments of fancy stock to eastern markets.

EVERYMAN'S INVESTMENTS

By GEORGE T. HUGHES (Copyright, 1925, by Consolidated Press Association)

OLD RULES DO NOT CHANGE

Every once in a while someone tells you that this or that market is entirely different from anything ever preceded it. Conditions are so completely changed, he asserts, that the old rules no longer apply. If it is grain that is going up it is because of a set of circumstances without precedent and there is no chance of loss to the speculator for the rise. Or if it is stocks he is equally sure that the basis for the advance is so sound that the danger of collapse which experience teaches has always followed reckless upbidding of prices does not now exist. Possibly it is investment securities the wise man is talking about and if so he assures you that opportunities to buy at bargain levels will never return. Whenever it is and whoever it is that makes these assertions they are false. The laws which govern the great speculative and investment markets have not been repealed and are not going to be. Short crops and high prices are followed sooner or later by large crops and low prices. Active and advancing markets in securities in which everyone who buys makes money—for a time—are succeeded by markets in which quotations melt away much more rapidly than they advance.

There always will be just as good opportunities in the future to invest your money profitably as there have been in the past. It may not be in the same stock or the same bond or even in securities dependent upon the same industry or connected with operations in the same part of the world but nothing is more certain than sometime equally favorable possibilities will present themselves as they have in the past. The investor or the speculator who operates on any other theory is making a grave error. (Copyright, 1925, by Consolidated Press.)

AFTER A LONG, HARD DAY ON THE ROAD THE GIRLS FOUND LODGING FOR THE NIGHT AT A LITTLE FARMHOUSE ALONG THE WAY—AND HERE WE FIND THEM ABOUT THREE O'CLOCK THE NEXT MORNING!

ARE YOU SURE YOU CAN'T GO BACK TO SLEEP AGAIN?
WELL, AS LONG AS YOU'RE GONNA STAY AWAKE—WOULD YOU MIND FANNIN' ME SO'S I CAN GET SOME SLEEP?

H. A. Rosemond, 485-R.SEATTLE, Aug. 6.—Alarm over the rapid rate at which Washington forests are being cut up into lumber has been expressed by Gov. Roland P. Hartley, himself a timberman of long experience.Governor Hartley predicted that within 20 years the timber of the state will have been cut away until lumbering will no longer be a major industry. At present lumbering and contingent industries are said to carry 65 per cent of the state's payroll.The timber stand in this state is one of the important ones in the entire country.Some lumbermen are inclined to ridicule the governor's statements as absurd, but on one point they agree. That is that the present system of taxation does not favor conservation. It is cheaper to cut timber, regardless of current prices, than to hold the stands which are heavily taxed. Under this system of things, the denuded land cannot be reforested profitably by the owners.Other lumbermen point to the fact that as the easily accessible timber is cut away, a natural increase in price will develop, which will force lumber to give way to cheaper building materials.

Caught With the Camera at Home and Abroad

Mrs. Julia Somellian, of Savannah, Ga., shot her husband because he insisted that she tend his moonshine stills. She claims self-defense in that, while struggling for possession of the shotgun with which her husband attempted to force her to do his will, the gun was discharged, fatally wounding him. This picture of Mrs. Somellian and her two children was taken in the courtyard of the Savannah city jail.

Because her sweetheart, George Henry Clay, was serving with the U. When her sex was discovered, recruiting men took up a collection to send her back home.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Stories told by American golfers when they returned from England of the shameful way in which MacDonald Smith, the American pro, was treated by the crowd in his final round of the British open championship were astonishing.

If it had happened in any place but Scotland, the birthplace of golf, where the finest child should be familiar with the etiquette of the royal and ancient game, it would not be so surprising.

Smith started on his last round with five holes on the entire field and the championship right in his grasp, but he went to pieces and was beaten by Jim Barnes.

He was crushed, he said, by mobs that closed in around him after every shot. At times he had to play his shots through narrow lanes of humanity and on the tees he had scarcely enough room to take a free swing.

"In all my experience in golf I never have experienced anything like it," he said, when he returned to this country. "I do not find fault when I am beaten fairly, but I wasn't in this case. Were it not for the fact that the British people were so sympathetic and treated me so well afterward, I never would play over there again."

"Mac never had a chance with that crowd around him," Joe Kirkwood, Australian pro, said when he returned. "The mob that swarmed on the course consisted largely of rowdies and picnicers who knew nothing of the etiquette of the game and who ignored the few police assigned to handle the spectators."

One most surprising feature of the affair was the charge printed in several papers, which Smith brought back with him, that gamblers who stood to lose a fortune if Smith won, were responsible for the action of the rowdy element in the gallery.

British golf officials have been protesting for several years against the attention that professional gamblers have been paying to the big British tournaments. It is public knowledge in London that big operators make books and place odds on the golf tournaments just as they do the races.

The fine form shown this year by British and American college athletes gave reason for the belief that both nations would be represented by stronger teams at the next Olympic games. The British athletes especially gave promise of making a stronger bid in 1928 for the Olympic honors.

"You can't depend too much on these college athletes for future use," Jack Moakley, veteran Cornell coach said recently. "Too many of them have to quit competition when they get into business. This is especially true of the English boys."

Douglas G. A. Lowe, Olympic 800-meter champion and the captain of the Oxford-Cambridge team, which competed here recently, said before he returned to England that he had run his last race. He has finished his studies and he said he was "forced to get about the business of making a living."

Lowe is perhaps the finest half-mile runner now and a great miler. Bill Stevenson, former Princeton star and a former intercollegiate and national quarter-mile champion, said he was through with championship competition after he had run for Oxford in the two meets here. He has finished his course at Oxford and is going to practice law.

It is a safe bet that very few of the American college athletes who distinguished themselves this year will answer when the call is sounded in 1928 for Olympic candidates. It was feared when the British Amateur Athletic Association withheld the medals that were coming to Loren Murchison for winning the two sprinting events at the British national championship meet that relations between the two countries would be strained.

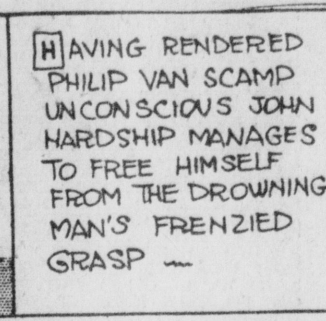

The British officials could do nothing else, however, after German officials had charged the American sprinter with an act of professionalism in demanding exorbitant expenses for competing in a meet in Berlin.

The level-headed way in which the British officials went about the investigation and the tact they displayed in asking the American A. A. U. for co-operation will avoid any athletic breach that might have come with less diplomatic persons in charge of the investigation.

DIFFICULTY OF CHANNEL SWIM IS DESCRIBED

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 6.—Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, will start with Lillian Harrison, Argentine swimmer, in an attempt to swim the channel at 6:30 this evening, trainers announced today.

ABOARD THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY TUG LANGDON, OFF DOVER, England, Aug. 6.—The difficulties that will confront Gertrude Ederle when the American girl attempts to swim the English channel were observed in detail by a United Press correspondent who accompanied Lt. Col. Bernard Cyril Freyberg, when that gallant British officer failed by a few hundred yards to accomplish the feat yesterday.

When finally he gave up, exhausted in the chill waters, it was at a point a mile and a half from shore, with the tide bearing him back towards France.

Colonel Freyberg, who is 35, is the man who won the V. C. at Gallipoli by blacking his naked body, swimming ashore in the darkness and penetrating the Turkish lines. He also won the D. S. O. and was wounded nine times. So when he plunged into the surf off Griz Nez on the French coast shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday night, it was with every hope of success.

Mrs. Freyberg and P. Miller, the colonel's trainer, brother officers and the United Press correspondent, kept pace with the swimmer in the admiralty tug. Now and then one of the party would slip over the side and swim alongside, setting the proper stroke for Colonel Freyberg.

Sometimes, in the blackness of a moonless night, the swimmer was almost invisible. Mrs. Freyberg kept at the rail, calling encouragement. The colonel, his face heavily greased against the cold and water, wore goggles to protect his eyes. He made good progress.

A patchy fog at dawn, a westerly wind that roughened the channel, and a light rain fell to deter Colonel Freyberg and at 11:30 a. m. everyone aboard the tug was cheered when Miller said:

"I'm confident Colonel Freyberg will be able to win, if he can make this next 200 yards within about fifteen minutes."

The swimmer was about a mile and a half from Dover's chalky cliffs. "If he can get over this little stretch, Miller explained to the United Press correspondent, "a favorable tide will carry him in. It's a 50 to 1 shot that he will do it."

Colonel Freyberg negotiated the difficult 200 yard stretch of swirling water but it took him an hour to do so. The 50 to 1 shot didn't come off.

A tide swept him down towards St. Margaret's Bay. He kept gamely at his task with waning strength and at one time was within 600 yards of the shore. This was his final effort.

At this point an adverse tide set. The swimmer was observed to be losing ground. Freyberg's strength was not equal to the effort. They lifted him from the water at 1:45 p. m.

Angels Stop Bee Winning Streak

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Thirteen proved unlucky to the Salt Lake Bees, when they were beaten by the Angels, after winning that many consecutive games. Whitey Glazner allowed the Bees 1 run and 8 hits, while his mates were making 2 on 9 hits, to even up the series.

15,000 ATTEND AS NEW BOXING ARENA OPENED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—The new Olympic auditorium, destined to become one of the most famous fight arenas in the world, staged an auspicious formal opening last night.

The fight card, although a splendid one, was sidetracked by the fact that it was opening night and the number of celebrities present. Representatives of Hollywood movie colony, members of the fight world and important business men mingled with the plain "fight fans" in the crowd.

All the fights, with the exception of the main event, were fast ones. All bouts were six rounds. In the main event Phil Salvatore and Julius Jessick sparred four rounds before they opened up. The fifth and sixth rounds were fast and furious with Salvatore holding the upper hand and winning the decision. Jessick was groggy on his feet at the finish.

Frankie Grandetta, bantamweight, was handicapped from the start of the semi-windup against Newsboy Brown with a cut over the left eye and fought a defense battle, losing the decision. The special event between Sammy Shack and Young Nationalist, bantamweights, was the best on the card. Both boys fought hard from the start, but Shack proved the cleverer and took the decision.

In the preliminary Harry Walch knocked Babe Biko down twice for seven and nine counts in the first round and carried him the rest of the way, winning the nod. Joe Layman beat Johnny Kane in the curtain raiser.

RAITTS RALLY, WIN FROM MAYTAG TEAM

Tapping Pitcher Smith for seven runs in the sixth stanza, Raitt's Sanitary Dray rolled up an 11 to 6 victory over Schluter's Maytags in last night's Santa Ana Class B Indoor Baseball league gambol at Poly field. The avalanche of base-hits broke up a perfectly good ball game for the Maytags who were ahead, 6 to 4, until the outbreak.

Gene Hitt, underhanding for the winners, allowed only one hit. The Raitt outfit collected eight bingles off Smith, everyone of these coming in the fatal sixth. A homer by Bowe and triple by Youel were included in the rally.

The Bowman-Prebles tangle with Tustin tonight. The Excelsior Creamery company team travels to Fullerton in the "A" league. The box score:

RICKARD CLAIMS 'UNDERSTANDING WITH DEMPSEY, WILLS FOR MATCH NEXT YEAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—"Just wait and see," Fox Rickard, New York promoter, said today in reply to many conflicting stories from Jack Dempsey, Jack Kearns and other promoters about the plans being made for the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship fight next summer.

"I have reached an understanding with Dempsey and Wills and it takes two men to make a fight," Rickard said in commenting on Dempsey's statement that Floyd Fitzsimmons, Chicago promoter, was making arrangements to stage the fight in Michigan City, Ind.

REORGANIZATION OF ANNUAL HARBOR LEAGUE TITLE RACE UP FOR DISCUSSION MONDAY

Preparatory steps toward the reorganization of the Orange County Harbor league for its 1925-26 season will be taken here next Monday night when representatives of baseball clubs in the south half of this section meet at the Victor Walker sporting goods store, 219 West Fourth street.

The session will be open to all persons interested. While no definite action is contemplated it is probable that officers will be elected and some idea gained as to when the league will get under way and how many teams will join in the struggle for diamond supremacy among the amateurs.

STECHER WRESTLERS FOR ORANGE LIONS

When Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, meets Renato Gardini, Italian challenger, in the new Olympic auditorium at Los Angeles next Monday night, Orange Lion's club members will be among the champ's most ardent rooters.

For Stecher, the tall, manly sun-tanned mat king completely captivated his audience there yesterday when he appeared in a wrestling exhibition before the booster club.

Stecher, with his brother and trainer, Anton Stecher, was a special guest of honor at the club luncheon, held at the Masonic hall, preceding the luncheon, the mat king appeared in an exhibition bout with his trainer, while Lions, gathered around the padded square, marveled at their skill and grace.

Pitcher Was Fined, Claim She tells of fines alleged to have been imposed for drunkenness; of a debauch staged upon the eve of an important game when, she avers, the fine was $500; of an agreement for separate maintenance that was not lived up to and charges that "he was transformed from a good husband into a drunkard."

Big money! There is also McQuillan's side of the case. He says she didn't attend to wifely duties; that he came home many times to find her gone; that he tried to build a happy home, but they drifted apart.

As for Miss Goebbel, she denies any intimations of "gay parties," admitting only a friendship in which hers has been an influence for good.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

ANNEXATION OF LAND PROPOSED AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Annexation of approximately 75 acres of land lying directly west of Fullerton's city limits was proposed to the city council at their regular meeting last night, and report made that the majority of owners in the district had signed petitions signifying their willingness to the proposed action.

According to a description of the property, the plan embraces tracts known as Lansdowne numbers 1 and 2, and a third addition to the subdivision which is now being completed, as well as a 14-acre ranch adjoining the subdivisions. Majority of the property lies between West Commonwealth avenue and the Buena Park road, according to owners who were present at the meeting, and the annexation would straighten the city limit line, which now follows a crooked line, due to the city sewer farm, it was shown.

City Trustees W. J. Carmichael, Roy Davis and W. A. Moore were appointed on a committee by Mayor Crooke to take up all matters connected with the proposed plan, and to report at a later meeting with a recommendation.

Property which is included in the proposed annexation district has an assessed valuation of $75,000, it was reported to the council. Approximately 62 houses are located within the boundaries of the addition, landowners reported.

A meeting of all owners in the district will be called by the council committee, in order to give all an opportunity to express their views on the subject, and to tell residents what would be expected if the district becomes a part of Fullerton.

HALF YEAR'S WORK REVIEWED BY CLUB

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Fullerton Kiwanians devoted practically all of their meeting yesterday to discussion of club business, and to reports of various committees, at the finish of the first half of the year.

H. L. Parry, chairman of the attendance committee, reported that in June, the attendance averaged 52 members per meeting, or approximately 72 per cent. In July, he showed, the attendance dropped, with but 44 members attending, an average of 60 per cent.

Dale King, head of the membership committee, reported that nine new members had been admitted to the organization in the past six months, with eight members leaving through resignation, or moving to other localities. He declared that the total membership of the club totaled 74 men.

Louis E. Plummer, chairman of the education committee, reported on work done by that branch of the club, and told of preparation of biographies of famous men, which are to be given at the regular meetings.

Albert Launer, in reporting on work of the program committee, asked for more constructive criticism on the programs offered, and that the members would offer suggestions for future entertainment. Launer also spoke of the recent charter presentation at San Diego, telling of excellent spirit which existed there toward other clubs.

The club members were urged by Chairman W. H. Wickett to plan attendance at the district convention, which will be held at San Diego on November 13 and 14. Entertainment at the gathering was offered by Bob Strain, well known orange packer, during the meeting.

Police In Cars May Be Used to Patrol Streets

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—This city may soon be without motor cops, if plans presented to the city council at their meeting last night are carried out. Replacement of the motorcycles by high speed automobiles was urged by Chief O. W. Wilson. The trustees are considering his request.

Wilson urged that the motorcycles, heretofore used by Officers Rudy and Chambers, and which are now in a badly damaged condition, due to two officers were seriously injured, be thrown into the discard.

The police chief showed the councilmen the danger of retaining motorcycles for the traffic officers, and quoted figures whereby automobiles could be operated at approximately the same cost, at greatly reduced danger to the officers themselves.

Grammar School Principal Returns

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Following a month's trip through Northern California and Oregon, C. A. Marcy, principal of the Fullerton grammar schools, returned home, reporting an enjoyable trip. Marcy, accompanied by his family, visited Crater lake, Mount Hood, and many other points of interest in the northern country.

Miss Isch, daughter of Laguna Beach pioneers, was last night crowned queen of "Fiesta Espanol" at the art colony. Miss Isch is shown in her regal robes.

HIGH TIDES AT NEWPORT DRAW OUT THROGS

BALBOA, Aug. 6.—Scores of people watched the high tide wash up on the beach here last night. Many crowded the railing of the pier and other went to the peninsula point near the jetty.

At this time of the year the tides reach the highest level of the summer in months. Tuesday night the maximum height of 7.4 feet was recorded.

Waves at the peninsula caused excitement for the spectators when the water came unusually high and wet the feet of screaming women and scurrying men.

A calm sea with no strong winds prevented further damage from being done. The wooden portion of the Blankenhorn bulkhead along the ocean front was broken down but sand was banked up to hold back the water.

COUNTY PREPARES FOR BUYING LAND

Orange county was today preparing to start the purchase of 160 acres of land from the Irvine company, for which negotiations were conducted a few weeks ago.

Under instructions from the county board of supervisors, District Attorney A. P. Nelson was drawing up a resolution appropriating $12,975 for payment on 40 acres of the tract, which is situated near the junction of South Main street and Newport avenue.

It has been arranged to purchase the property in four annual installments, 40 acres to be paid for each year. The county, it is said, plans to utilize the property for recreational purposes or possibly for an aircraft landing field.

Beach Lions Have Lively Gathering

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—Local Lions were treated to a hour of entertainment at their regular meeting this week. Music was furnished by S. L. Harrell and daughter, Miss LaVerne Harrell, of this city. A. F. Rice, Los Angeles, brought roars of laughter from the Lions with his clever wit.

C. P. Patton and William Moorman were the chairmen of the day. James Morris, vice president of the club, officiated in the absence of S. R. Bowen, president. J. M. Barlow and Elson Conrad will be the program chairmen for next week.

"Private Road" Signs at H. B. Are Protested

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 6.—An investigation of "private road" signs which have been placed on various streets north and west of town, will be made by City Engineer E. M. Billings, it was reported today.

The signs, it is alleged, have been placed on streets which are open to the public, but have been posted with private road signs by the Standard Oil company.

The signs also give notice that the road may be closed at any time by the company. If it is found that the streets have been granted to the city, the signs will be removed, Billings said.

Blacksmith Is Fined At Beach On Drunk Charge

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 6.—When Henry Kemme, local blacksmith, attempted to drive his car into the garage without opening the door, he became involved with G. D. McInnes, truck driver, in charges of liquor violation.

The case of the two men was brought up before City Recorder Andrew Wilson in court yesterday. Kemme was fined $75 and McInnes was assessed $150.

Motorcycle Officer Roy Alder arrested Kemme when he was said to have been found drunk as he crashed into his garage door. Suspicion was placed on McInnes because the two men had been seen together.

A search of McInnes' house was made and three quarts of liquor are alleged to have been found. His arrest followed and he was cited to appear with Kemme to answer the charges of liquor violation. The men paid the fines.

ORANGE BOARD SETS DATE FOR WATER VOTING

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—Hastening preliminary proceedings owing to the critical situation existing at the present water plant, the city council, in regular session, here, passed for first reading an ordinance fixing Tuesday, September 15, as the date for the $125,000 water bond election to provide funds for development of a municipal water bond election to provide funds with a capacity for supplying domestic water to a city of 15,000 population.

Providing the voters render a favorable verdict, the funds will be available in time to start actual work about January 1, according to City Attorney L. F. Coburn, who prepared the ordinance.

With work starting about that time, the plant should be completed for next summer's campaign, it was stated.

The funds derived from the bonds will provide for clearing existing obligations on the Struck property recently purchased on time contract as a site for the proposed plant, besides financing drilling of two deep wells, installation of necessary pumping apparatus, construction of balancing reservoir and the laying of an 18-inch line down Collins avenue to Tuatini street to "tie" on to the present city lines. A feeder line down Batavia avenue to Chapman to supply the newly annexed West Orange territory, is also included in the plans.

The ordinance will come up for final reading at the next meeting of the board, set for August 15. At that time, the proceedings will be ordered published to serve legal notice on the voters.

DELAY APPOINTMENT OF MOTOR OFFICER

ORANGE, Aug. 6.—The matter of appointing a successor to Motor Officer L. E. Hurd, who resigned effective August 1, to accept a position on the state motorcycle squadron in Orange county, was deferred until the latter part of August by the city council yesterday afternoon, during a discussion of likely candidates for the post.

The delay, it is understood, was occasioned by the fact that the board has virtually decided to reappoint George Peterkin, the former officer, providing Peterkin, who was seriously injured in a motor crash about a year ago, can resume his motorcycle duties.

It is expected that the injured officer, who has been improving rapidly, will be in a shape to accept the job the latter part of the month. Aside from a slight stiffness, his injured leg, which laid him up in a hospital for many months as sound as ever, Peterkin informed City Marshal M. E. Jemison, in submitting his application for the motor berth.

The application of Orlo Hobbs, this city, was referred to the police committee, pending final action in the matter. In the meantime, Night Officer Charles Wallace, who has been serving as motor officer for the past few weeks, will continue in that capacity until the board decided.

Earl Shaffer, night officer, who has been serving under a temporary appointment was given a permanent appointment by the board, thereby completing the night force.

CITY WEED LAW TO BE CHANGED

FULLERTON, Aug. 6.—Changes in the city ordinance to make it more effective, and to make any mistakes in the work impossible, were ordered last night by the city council here regarding the city weed ordinance.

City Manager W. C. Record appeared before the councilmen, and showed them that the weed law, as it is now being operated, is not effective. He said that at the present time the task of keeping the city free from objectionable growths was too great a burden on the street superintendent, as constant work is required to keep the vacant lots in a respectable condition.

City Attorney Lyon and Record were instructed by the trustees to re-write the ordinance to meet present needs, and to present the law to the council at a future meeting.

Clearing House Is Organized By Anaheim Banks

ANAHEIM, Aug. 6.—Organization of the Anaheim Clearing House association and the immediate functioning of the organization was announced here today by the five banking institutions of the city.

Officers of the association are J. G. Hilleary, president; A. B. McCord, vice-president, and E. E. Smith, secretary-treasurer.

The formation of the clearing house association is conceded to be a big forward step in Anaheim banking business. Banking declared that it will speed up banking by arrangement for more direct routing of checks, making the transfer of funds more safe and enable the banks to give greater aid to industrial development of the city.

In making clearing settlements it has been necessary heretofore for messengers to carry large amounts of money about the streets to take up checks held by one bank on another. Bankers declare that they have been fortunate that none of the messengers ever were attacked by bandits. The new association will eliminate any chance of losses from this source by making settlements through the Federal Reserve bank.

One of the greatest advantages of the formation of the association that will accrue to the city lies in the possible pooling of resources for industrial aid.

The banks further point out that the daily records of the association will furnish a fairly accurate business barometer for the city. At the close of any day, week or month it will be possible to get a fairly accurate estimate of the business that has been done during that period.

Member banks in the new association are the Southern County bank, the American Savings bank, The Bank of America, First National bank and Anaheim National bank.

Following the presentation of the program by the Anaheim group, the evening will be turned into a social dance. Lynn Robb, chairman of the dance committee of the Eastern Star, and R. J. Prescott, patron of the lodge, will be in charge of the dance. Orange county Eastern Star members have been invited to attend the dance.

Mrs. E. A. Kinney of North Tuatini street returned from a visit at Whittier.

—kills citrus insect pests in all stages of development

The remarkable results achieved by the use of VOLCK are largely the result of the fact that VOLCK not only kills scale and most other citrus insect pests but kills them in all stages of development from the egg to the adult.

Most insect pests pass thru various stages in which they are practically immune to other control methods and spray materials—but there are no stages where they are immune to VOLCK. Every scale that is touched by VOLCK dies.

Because of its exceptional effectiveness one application usually ends the pest problem for the year. Once over your trees and you can give your time to other things.

VOLCK is not only sure, but it's safe. It does not burn or injure either fruit or foliage. No pitting, no scarring, no wind damage. When your trees are sprayed with VOLCK you get clean fancy fruit and the top price.

VENTURA Conquers "Meanest" Hill

PROGRAM—KFI
EVERY WEDNESDAY
8 TO 9 P. M.

LOADING six husky passengers into his sturdy Jewett, W. R. Riddle, pioneer motor car merchant of Alhambra, started up the Lake Street Hill, Pasadena—the "meanest" hill for high gear in Southern California.

Half way up—then came the warning "pop" from the carburetor, and Riddle regretfully shifted into "second."

Again, with the same load—but with another gasoline in the tank—he started. And, again, he failed to make the grade in "high."

Then the tank was filled with Ventura Gasoline. This time, the car did not falter. Steadily, surely the Jewett gained speed, still in high gear. Faster, faster sped the car, under the whole-hearted, powerful thrusts of Ventura—up the mile-long grade, and over the top at 30 miles an hour in "high."

"I never knew Ventura to fail, and I've put it to some stiff tests in the last ten years," said Riddle at the finish.

Every motorist may enjoy this same surge of power, for he can buy the same powerful gasoline that Riddle used. There is only one grade of Ventura. Learn the true meaning of "More Power to You" by filling your tank at any independent service station displaying the "Red Bell" sign. Then watch the hills flatten out!

SUPERVISOR SMITH

We welcome Willard Smith to the board of supervisors. We welcome him not only as a strong and fit representative of the fourth supervisorial district but as a sturdy and capable representative of the entire county. There are only a few men in each community who have not only a thorough understanding of local affairs but also a thorough understanding of county affairs, and fewer yet who, at the same time, have the personality, disposition and experience to make them first class county supervisors. Willard Smith is one of the few of the few, and among the few of the few he is an outstanding man.

Looking over the various activities with which he has been connected, one need but review Mr. Smith's connection with the citrus industry to realize that he is a man in whom others have confidence. From leadership in his own local associations he became a leader in the Orange County Fruit Exchange, and by that organization he was selected as representative of the exchange upon the executive board of the California Fruit Growers exchange, which, as we all know, controls the destinies of the orange and lemon industries of the California.

He is a man of calm, good judgment, actuated always by a keen sense of fair play and by an honesty and sincerity tried and found true. He has lived in Orange county since earliest childhood, and has grown up with the county, grown with it and aided materially in its growth and development. His district is fortunate in the selection of Willard Smith as its supervisor, and in that good fortune the whole county shares.

THE VILLAGE DOCTOR

It is not so serious a matter as it may seem, that several hundred towns in the United States have no resident doctors. Small towns are no longer isolated.

Eddie Rickenbacker pointed out recently the fact, often overlooked, that the "social radius" has increased in a quarter of a century from five miles to 25, and the "business radius" from 10 miles to 50. It may be easier nowadays, where there are good roads, to get a doctor from the next town than it was in the last generation to get him from the other end of the same town. It is usually easy, too, nowadays to consult a doctor by telephone; and the telephone cares even less how far it is than the automobile does.

On the strictly professional side, then, the public gets along as well as it ever did in the matter of medical attention, and probably better. Hygienic knowledge and simple medical principles are more generally known, too, than they were in the days of our fathers.

The personal side is another matter. The country or village doctor was formerly a personage in his community and a powerful influence for good, public and private. He knew his people thoroughly, and they knew and trusted him. He was one of the chief pillars of the community. Often he developed into a rare and beneficent character, of a type that is seldom seen now. The place of this old "family doctor" cannot be taken by specialists nor by distant physicians consulted formally over the telephone. He still retains his place in thousands of villages and towns in this country.

BUSY CHILDREN

Some of the people who claim to believe that child labor is good for children say that to end it is to establish idleness and mischief. But the opponents of child labor do not believe in idleness, either. Usually they advocate training in the skillful and productive use of child hands as well as child minds.

They approve of and encourage club work in rural communities, which enroll children in agriculture, stock-raising, household arts and other projects that develop initiative. They approve of manual training for city children and they are enthusiastic about all the woodcraft and outdoor lore that is taught in such groups as the boy and girl scouts. None of this recreation do they consider idleness.

But the child labor fans sniff at these things and ask what they teach about earning a living in the modern industrial community. To which one organization, the Woodcraft League of America, answers that its program "starts children in the way of finding their own fun so that when they are grown up they will have within themselves the necessary resources for healthy amusement."

And since amusement is not the whole end in life, it may be truthfully added that the boy who learns life at its source in Nature, who learns to fend for himself in the open, will become a more self-reliant and resourceful man than the one who goes to work 8 or 10 hours a day when he should still be in school.

DEFINE WALL STREET

What is Wall Street? A New York financial writer, asking this old question, quotes first the old answer: "A crooked street, scarcely half a mile in length, beginning at a cemetery on one end and ending at a suicide's dock on the other." Which is one way of looking at it, not entirely satisfactory to the writer. So he proceeds with his own answer:

"It begins wherever human activities begin, and it has no ending so long as human affairs continue. Greater than the Main Street of Sinclair Lewis it is; greater than the Downing Street of British prime ministers or the Quai d'Orsay of continental Europe. Greater than the McCall Street of magazine advertisements or the street called Straight in fiction. Greater than all these, because it reflects them all."

Is that so? And is a mirror, then, greater than the human life or painted picture it reflects? Or the window glass greater than the landscape seen through it?

Granted, Wall Street is a pretty good reflector of business conditions, though somewhat warped, like trick mirrors that make a normal person look fatter or leaner or taller or shorter than he really is. Wall Street, if we take that vague term as meaning the Stock Market, is always running to extremes, with prices too high or too low, and a cautious observer has to take averages and draw curves to get things straight. Wall Street in its other sense of Money Market is extremely useful, and much less objectionable than it used to be, since the regional bank system broke its monopoly and gave the country eleven other financial centers.

For Heating Their Groves

Redlands Facts.

The meeting of citrus growers last night to hear the report of their committee named to work out some plan of organization for those who are engaged in heating their groves this coming winter, was short and satisfactory. Several thousand acres will be put under fire pots this fall, in readiness for Jack Frost, when he shall come again. And he will come, of course, though we hope it will not be for a long time.

The plan is for the growers interested to organize into several mutual corporations, each having headquarters in some central spot of a neighborhood, erect their storage tanks, then buy fuel oil according to the requisitions which the growers have put in for the same, holding the fuel to the call of the grower. The cost will be prorated, of operation, according to the holding of each, just as a mutual water company. In this way the oil will always be on hand, and the large buying capacity of the company will assure the lowest possible cost.

The effect of the larger orchard heating will be to stabilize the orange growing industry here, and that means to better the general commercial condition of the city. If growers do not lose their crops, in years of cold snaps, they will have money to buy groceries and clothing and automobiles and other necessities of life. That means business for all.

It is to be regretted that not all the territory more subject to frost damage cannot be given the orchard heating treatment this year. It will gradually come into it, as time goes by. But not all growers are in a financial position to do it. These must take their chances. Let us hope the next few years will be those of good yields, fine returns and no frosts, so that all may rehabilitate themselves to the extent that they can provide this kind of insurance.

Word comes that insurance against frost by insurance companies will be more costly than before, this coming year, and certain areas will not be accepted at all.

As a Prophet, On Solid Ground

San Francisco Chronicle.

No seventh son was necessary to make the prophecy that David Lloyd George uttered Wednesday in the Commons. If, said the little Welshman, there should be a war in the Pacific, England would be found fighting on the same side as the United States.

That's sure as shootin'. And the reason is simple. Should there be a war in the Pacific—a purely academic assumption—the belligerents are not going to be China and Chile. Neither will they be Siberia and Ecuador. There are now only two possibilities—we think impossible—Pacific combatants. They are the United States and Japan.

If England had to mix in such a dispute, it would have to be on the side of the United States. Otherwise she would lose Australia and Canada. The only possible occasion of a war between Japan and the United States would be the immigration question. On that question Canada and Australia see eye to eye with the United States. It's their question, too. Do you think Canada and Australia would let England try to help Japan force her immigrants on the United States? Not while they are also determined to exclude Orientals. They would see their turn coming next.

We do not expect to see England fighting beside the United States in a war in the Pacific because we do not think there will be any war in the Pacific. But if that highly improbable thing does happen then David Lloyd George will be found a true prophet—provided England see a way to stay out. And staying out would be hard with Canada and Australia begging her on. To complete the perfect circle of this reasoning it is only necessary to add that the undoubted fact that England would have to be on the side of the United States in such a war is a clinching reason why there won't be any such war. Give the Japanese credit for smartness. You will never get them into the ring with the United States and Great Britain together.

Average Is No Measure

San Francisco Chronicle.

It may be true that the average Californian is potentially worth more to society at 25 than thereafter, as L. E. Ross, director of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, avers, with figures to prove his contention.

We may grant him his figures but deny the value of his average. The average is a wicked leveler. It pulls down the mighty from their thrones to bring up those of low degree. It balances the finer performances of adult life with the helplessness of the infant world, with the futility of the defectives, the worthless and the improvident. Average makes for mediocrity.

Our statistician surely would not say that Herbert Hoover, for instance, is less useful to society now than he was as a cub of 25 beginning his mining career in China; that Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, reached the limit of his usefulness when at 25 he was beginning to teach freshmen astronomy at the University of Colorado; that Luther Burbank reached the peak of his service to mankind when at 25 he began experiments at his Santa Rosa farm.

Striking averages is a sort of statistical solitaire. It may be academic pleasure, but most often it doesn't mean anything.

HERE'S HELP FOR INSECT BITES

To relieve irritation and pain caused by the bites of insects, such as ants, spiders, bedbugs and mosquitoes, use carbolic acid, one-half dram; glycerine, three drams, and rose water sufficient to make three ounces.

Mix the solution and apply freely to the bite or sting. Mosquito bites are often rank poison, especially upon the delicate flesh of children.

Discomfort is obviated by rubbing the exposed parts with a mixture of one part oil of sassafras with five parts of proof alcohol. Every three or four hours slight rubbing must be repeated.

A paste of baking soda and water is good for bites of spiders and other insects, unless they are of the unusually virulent type. Listerine also is good.

Irritation that is caused in some persons by mosquito bites may be relieved by the application of peacanucha, made into a paste with water or vinegar. Purchase the peacanucha at the drug store.

Weak ammonia water, oil, salt water or iodine are other remedies for insect bites.

The War Spirit

Herbert Spencer demonstrated, long ago, that warlike people are always most vicious. Lombroso noted that war always increased the number of crimes. Lydston said that army life tended to unfit a man for honest industry. Aubrey declared war to be a neurosis. In one of my books, published before the world war, I denounced war as a dangerous and contagious homicidal insanity.

All war is homicide, robbery and arson, and is justifiable, if at all, only upon the part of those who wage it in self-defense. Queerly enough, most people who engage in war seem to think that they are acting in self-defense. That was Germany's plea in the last great war; it was the plea of the United States; it was the plea of all. And they all believed it, too. This lends support to the view that the World War was indeed a world-psychosis; as much so as the Crusades. Strictly speaking, nobody wants war. But once the condition is precipitated upon the world, men are bereft of reason, and there seems little prospect of relief excepting through the natural processes of physical exhaustion. But war may be prevented, just as other plagues are prevented—by removing its causes. It is doubtful if any other preventive remedy will suffice. Certainly the ultimate effectiveness of organized force and be seriously doubted.

If all could say, with Thomas Paine, "My country is the world, and my religion is to do good," then indeed we should find ourselves in position to look hopefully forward to a realization of Tennyson's ideal, "In the Palmetum of Man, the Federation of the World." But brotherhood must begin at home. That condition of universal amity will arrive only when humanity is ready for it. Meanwhile the human race must go forward by the slow but sure process of improving and broadening the culture of each member of society. The man who can aid somewhat in the cause of general education will have done something to minimize war and to thus check those successive waves of crime which operate both as a cause and as an effect of war. To civilize, we must first humanize; and the work of humanization is none too far advanced.

Not all the intelligencia are evolutionists. There are scientists and naturalists who refuse to enlist under the banner of Darwinism and reject the dogma which evolutionists promulgate as the only rational accounting for the developed state of mankind. One of these who has within the past six months or so stepped into the limelight of the scientific world is Louis T. More, professor of physics in the University of Cincinnati. Prof. More is the author of a book entitled "The Dogma of Evolution." The volume is made up of lectures delivered at Princeton University last January. They are said to have created a profound impression in circles given to investigation of the mystery of creation.

Prof. More speaks of the evolution of man from the lower animals as "purely a matter of guess." He says: "With what is now known to be a pitifully meagre supply of facts, observations and experiments, the Darwinians preached the gospel of evolution as an established scientific law and crunched all opposition to natural selection by hunting the anathema, if you do not believe, you were not fit to survive. What Prof. More says of living scientists as well as those who preceded them will be surprising to many when he states that those who think that scientists are animated by a pure love of truth, that they are dominated by a spirit free from prejudice, need to revise their opinion. He paints an entirely different picture of Darwin and Huxley from the generally accepted one. A reviewer of Prof. More's book in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican in referring to recent allusions to the first chapter of Genesis as a fairy tale asks if it is any more of a fairy tale than the explanation of Darwin's theory given in the Children's Encyclopedia: "Once all the creatures lived in the sea and rivers. From some of the flying monsters came the birds. Think of the humming-birds and remember it is descended from a monster called the Iguanodon, which had a great head like a lizard a yard in length." The contributor adds that any person who can accept the story of the humming bird and the Iguanodon ought to find no difficulty in believing the story of Jonah and the great fish that swallowed him.

So the scientists are at variance regarding evolution and it requires more than a modicum to accept some of their most elementary beliefs or facts or whatever one may choose to call them. Prof. More's high standing may attract other scientists to his way of thinking regarding the dogmas of evolution. It is probable that some less bold than he have refrained from expressing their doubts for fear they might not be regarded as among those entitled to "belong."

Wit and Wisdom

Temper is too precious a possession to be wasted in grief and sorrowing.

If you would be happy, let the other fellow do the worrying. Never put off till tomorrow what you should put over today.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 10—IN YUM YUM LAND

Nancy and Nick and Juggle Jump came to Yum Yum Land next in their search for Puff's lost buttons.

They had found three, but there were nine more still missing. Now in Yum Yum Land the people do nothing but cook and eat. And as the Twins and their friend passed along, the most delicious smells met their noses.

They were soon to find out where the smells came from, for on one window sill there were six cherry pies set out to cool. On another there were twenty glasses of brand new jelly. Still another window sill held a baking of fresh raisin bread and coffee cake that fairly made your mouth water.

The travelers knocked on the first door they came to. Instantly it was opened by a jolly looking woman who was very, very, very fat.

"How do you do," said Nick. "We are strangers in a strange land, and we are looking for something. Did you see such a thing as a large pearl button with four holes in it?"

"Buttons!" cried the woman. "Buttons! Why I haven't seen a button since it snowed in July. Buttons don't stay on me any longer than a drop of water on a hot stove. The minute I get them on, off they go. I've tried pocket squares and handkerchiefs, but they don't stay on either. You might try next door."

So next door they went. This time a jolly fat man let them in. "Buttons!" he cried when he heard what they were after. "Buttons in Yum Yum Land are as scarce as feathers on a fish. No one in Yum Yum Land has seen a button since apples grew on Christmas trees. We are all too fat here for buttons to last more than a minute and a half. But you might try next door."

From door to door of this strange place went Juggle Jump and the Twins.

But no one had ever heard of Puff's buttons or any other button, in fact.

At last they met a peddler. "Any ornaments for your mantelpiece!" called the peddler. "Or any fine dishes for your table?"

He stopped when he saw the Twins coming. "Here, little girl," he said to Nancy. "I have the cutest plates for a doll set, you ever saw. They are very pretty and have all the colors of the rainbow. They say it's the stuff that mermaid houses are made of, and comes right out of the sea. Won't you buy them?"

And there, if you please, were four of poor Puff's buttons!
